Germans In Raid On Jewish Quarters

SEEK FOOD MONEY IN RIOTING

Police Forced to Fire on Men and Women to Drive Off Mob

BREAD PRICE SOARS TO NEW HIGH MARK

Government Massing Army As Bavarian Fascisti Plans Advance

(By United Press Leased Wire) BERLIN, Nov. 5.—Crying "kill them," crowds rioted in the Jewish quarter of Berlin today. Furious men and women tore clothes from residents of the district, seizing their foreign money.

A Jewish butcher stood his ground with a meat axe and severely injured several in a mob that tried to raid his shop for food and foreign currencies.

Squads of police called out to protect the Jews fired point blank into the crowd and drove them away.

Rout Police Force The crowd quickly gathered again in the Alexanderplatz near police headquarters, crying "kill the Jewish stock exchange dealers."

Police were unable to prevent rioters from attacking a few straggling dealers from the bourse.

Danger of a bread rebellion in big cities menaced Germany today as the army completed preparations to combat any aggressive moves by Bavarian fascists.

Thousands of families were in desperation as they found themselves unable to buy bread today.

Raid Bread Shops Long lines of hungry people waiting for bread early today broke in despair and rushed the shops.

Many have been without bread since Saturday owing to the enormous fixation of the price at 140,000,000 paper marks, instead of at the lower official figure.

Five hundred desperate men and women rushed bread wagons in a factory district. Having been out of work for a long time, their despair led them to attack furiously.

Police were helpless against them. Finally a commandant of storm troops took control of the police, brought them into formation and sent them dashing against the crowds.

The hungry unemployed fell back and scattered, leaving many of the boldest ones still struggling helplessly in the hands of the police.

Bread Prices High Many bakeries kept the price of bread at 140,000,000 marks over the week end, following the erroneous report that the price had been fixed at that figure.

It represented 33 cents, according to Berlin's official mark quotations. A week's wages average only between 250,000,000 and $500,000,000 marks, and the sudden jump left many families unable to buy two loaves for a whole week.

PARLEY SEEKS RESUMPTION OF WORKS IN RUHR PARIS, Nov. 5.—Negotiations between German industrialists and French occupation authorities for an agreement for resumption of work in the Ruhr will be ready for signing Thursday, a dispatch from Dusseldorf said today.

The basis of the agreement was expected to be that France would require:

First, payment of arrears of coal taxes up to a minimum of $15,000,000.

Second, that there would be a regular payment of 10 francs a ton as a tax on future deliveries, and

Third, that there should be an immediate resumption of reparations payments in kind.

GIVE UP PLANS FOR REPUBLIC IN GREECE LONDON, Nov. 5.—M. Pangalos, and his followers are convinced there is no chance for successful establishment of a republic in Greece at the present time and have decided definitely to shelve the question, a dispatch from Athens said today.

Out For a Stroll On The Busy Waters of San Francisco Bay

Strolling across San Francisco Bay! Sounds incredible, to be sure. Yet D. F. Sheldon (left), of Ventura, Calif., and Rev. W. W. Reilly of Weathersville, Calif., are doing it here. Walking tandem in water skis invented by Sheldon's brother, A. N. Sheldon, Ventura rancher, the two men made the trip from shore to shore. Now they're getting ready to hike across the English Channel.

ROLPH LEADER IN BITTER CAMPAIGN FOR S. F. MAYOR

(By United Press Leased Wire) SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—San Francisco was drawing to a close today the hottest election campaign since James Rolph Jr., was first elected mayor twelve years ago.

Tomorrow the voters will cast their ballots and decide the issues. The last ten days have been marked by a countless succession of automobile parades, scores of meetings held by various candidates every night, spirited newspaper battles and a "direct by mail" campaign which has all but swamped the postoffice.

FRANCE URGES PARLEY TAKE UP DEBTS

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—France will agree to permit the proposed conference of experts to discuss a revision of the total German reparations figure only if, at the same time, the commission can take up the question of a revision of the French debt to the United States. It was learned from a reliable source here today.

This will be France's answer today to Secretary of State Hughes' objections to Premier Poincare's insistence upon limiting the scope of the proposed conference to investigate Germany's capacity to pay reparations.

Jules Jusserand, ambassador of France to the United States, called on Secretary of State Hughes this afternoon to present France's reply to American objections to a restricted reparations parley.

Poincare has instructed Jusserand to set forth the French position to Hughes "clearly, loyally and amicably."

Great Britain, Italy and Belgium have fully accepted the American plan, it was stated at the state department today.

ASHES OF BONAR LAW REST AMONG REMAINS OF BRITAIN'S NOTABLES LONDON, Nov. 5.—Britain paid her farewell tribute today to Andrew Bonar Law today.

The ashes of the prime minister who sacrificed his life in the nation's service were placed in a tomb in Westminster Abbey, among the emperors, kings and great men of dead generations.

The British empire and most of the world was represented at the funeral. Along the route of the procession tens of thousands of persons thronged the streets.

The abbey was crowded with friends of the late prime minister and representatives of the many people who paid him tribute.

The procession started from the Church of the Bonar Law family, St. Columba's in Pont street. Here the remains had lain since their cremation Saturday afternoon.

The urn was borne to the hearse by a party of non-commissioned officers from the royal air force and from the Scottish Borderers regiment, in which organizations Bonar Law's two sons were killed in the war.

The ashes were placed in a grave in the nave between the organ screen and the grave of the unknown warrior. It was near the tomb of the great scientist, Darwin, the dramatist, Ben Jonson, the evangelist, Fox, and the most notable of British prime ministers, Pitt.

Following the lowering of the ashes, Chopin's funeral march, played on the organ, closed the ceremony.

RAPS VET BUREAU RATING PLAN

FEDERAL AID ON DAM AIM OF SOLON

Congress Urges Coolidge to Seek Muscle Shoals Appropriation

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—President Coolidge today was urged by Representative Madden, Illinois, chairman of the house appropriations committee, to support a plan to have the government build a new power plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

The plan would build a dam to give the Alabama power company the new plant would be, Madden said, to get a new bid from Henry Ford for the whole Muscle Shoals project.

The Alabama power company today applied to Secretary Weeks for a new lease on steam plant Number 2 at Muscle Shoals. Weeks announced that he would, in reply, state willingness of the government to give the company a new lease under the same terms as the one under which they now hold the plant and which is expiring.

Weeks stated that the government is paid approximately $250,000 a year for this plant under the present lease and that the lease is revocable at any time so that it would not hold up any general disposition of the Muscle Shoals project.

Madden's plan, as outlined to Coolidge, called for construction of a duplicate of the Gorgas plant on a site about ninety miles from Muscle Shoals, the construction of three dams and of a power transmission line to Muscle Shoals. He estimated this would cost about $3,500,000, the sum realized by the government from the sale of the Gorgas plant.

Madden will introduce a bill for this purpose when congress meets in December. If the project is authorized he said, Ford will be asked to make a new bid for Muscle Shoals. Ford has repeatedly said he didn't want Muscle Shoals unless he got the Gorgas plant along with it. The government having sold the Gorgas plant, this is the most practicable way to meet Ford's position, Madden said.

He predicted early action in the house on the Muscle Shoals project and indicated Mr. Coolidge favored a prompt disposition of the question.

Reviews Case As an instance of the extraordinary irregularity occasionally occurring in ratings and compensation, Senator Reed asked General O'Ryan, counsel for the committee, if there were not evidence showing injustice to claimants.

O'Ryan stated there undoubtedly had been many cases of injustice due to delay and insufficient compensation, but that from the evidence disclosed so far, the cases in which unduly high rates had been paid greatly outnumbered those in which the claimants had been inadequately paid.

When the hearing opened today O'Ryan, counsel for the committee, made a statement regarding the general results of his preliminary investigation. He said that many of the veterans' bureau projects which had been under suspicion had proved under careful investigation to have been planned and constructed without "corruption, waste or dishonesty."

EXPERT SAYS SUMS PAID TOO HIGH

Witness Declares Investigation Shows Many Men Were Over-Paid

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—An appalling number of discrepancies in the ratings of compensation due disabled veterans by officials of the veterans' bureau was charged by Dr. David O. Smith, bureau physician, testifying before the senate investigating committee today.

Smith said he had been with the bureau for five years and that recently he had been directed by General Hines, present director of the bureau, to make a special study of the rating situation.

He testified that his review of more than six hundred cases during this inspection, coupled with his long experience in the bureau, forced him to conclude there had been "a lack of uniformity of rating," due to misapplication of the rating schedule.

Charges Irregularity Irregularity in tracing service connection in disability claims was also charged by Dr. Smith.

Auto Smashes Way Into Hotel Kitchen

SANTA ROSA, Nov. 5.—For the sixth time in a year L. Ernest awoke during the small hours this morning to find an automobile out of his hotel.

This time it was George Cowen of Kenwood, Calif. The hotel—"Frisbie's Inn," sits on a sharp turn in the Santa Rosa-Sebastopol highway. Cowen was driving through a heavy fog and couldn't see the turn. His car went through one wall of the inn and came to a stop at the kitchen door. Cowen was not hurt.

Arrest today applied to the road authorities to install either a concrete wall or proper signal lights to protect his building.

Bank Looter Gets $2800 From Teller But Is Taken After 30 Minute Chase

BURBANK, Calif., Nov. 5.—A bandit shortly before noon today entered the State Bank of Burbank, held up the teller and escaped with $2800.

Through the activity of Jack Hoxie, movie star, and C. E. Lohman, Hollywood business man, who were in Burbank, the bandit was captured thirty minutes later at Universal City. He gave the name of Lee Cardes.

Hoxie and Lohman saw Cardes rush out of the bank and speed away in an automobile. Both followed him in their machines. Cardes perceived he was being followed and stopped near Universal City and started to enter the gatekeeper.

Lohman informed a watchman, and the trio then seized Cardes, took his gun away and locked him up until officers arrived.

There are three contests that stand out—Vermont's senatorial election and the governorship contests in Kentucky and Maryland. In New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Mississippi, Maine, Massachusetts, Virginia, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Louisiana, the contests are local.

Coolidge's Cousin Democrat. President Coolidge's cousin, Park H. Pollard, is Democratic candidate for senator in Vermont to succeed the late Senator Dillingham.

Porter H. Dale is Republican candidate. Coolidge has been urged to use his influence to keep Vermont safely in the Republican column. He has declined to do anything, publicly at least.

Vermont is his native state and its loss would be a tremendous blow to Coolidge's candidacy. Reports indicate Pollard has a chance, while there is a spirited contest for the congressional vacancy created by Dale's entrance into the senatorial contest.

Klan Big Factor. In Maryland, the prohibition and Ku Klux Klan questions figure largely. Governor Ritchie, Democratic nominee, is opposed for the governorship by Alexander Armstrong, Republican. Ritchie is an out-and-out beer and wine candidate, a distinct leader of that school that opposes the federal aid to states individually and collectively help federal enforcement of the prohibition law. He has accused Armstrong of pussyfooting on this issue. The Klan, it is whispered, is going to decide the Maryland election tomorrow.

Such administration leaders as Senator New and Senator Watson have been jumping Kentucky in an effort to keep the state Republican. The Democrats sent James M. Cox in to try to swing it back to the Democratic column.

Wet Issue Up. In Ohio the wet and dry issue figures in many city and county contests. In New Jersey there is a wet and dry fight over control of the state assembly which involves leadership of the Republican party in the state.

Former Senator Frelinghuysen is trying to come back and wrest state leadership from Senator Edge.

In New York four congressional seats are to be filled and these contests are being watched as barometers of the state's political weather.

CHICAGOANS IN FIGHT OVER JUDICIAL OFFICES CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—The major parties and the independents today brought to a close a hard fought campaign for the judicial elections here tomorrow. Twenty-two seats in the circuit court are to be filled. Other issues include a new tax for more school facilities and a bond issue for a zoological park.

In the fourth Illinois district voters will fill a congressional vacancy caused by the death of John W. Ralney. Thomas A. Doyle state representative and nominee of the democratic party, is without republican opposition.

BITTER CONTEST IN PRESIDENT'S STATE

Vermont, Maryland and Kentucky Holding Center of Interest

BY LAWRENCE MARTIN (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The personal political fortunes of President Coolidge and, to a much greater degree, the fortunes of the Republican party, are bound up in the elections to be held in many states tomorrow.

Separately, few of the election contests are important beyond the local confines of the districts or states affected. Collectively, they are expected to give an indication of how the political current is running—whether the reaction away from the Republican party, which was noted in the last congressional election, continues or has been halted.

GOVERNMENT HALTS AIR SPEED TRIALS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The navy department today called a halt on further aerial speed trials by Lieutenants Brown and Williams, who have been shattering air speed records the past few days.

Admiral Moffett, head of the navy air service, telegraphed his congratulations, but ordered them not to try to exceed the world speed marks set yesterday, on the ground that to do so would entail unnecessary risks and serve no useful purpose.

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The battle for the speed supremacy of the air was to be continued here today when Lieut. Harold J. Brown, U. S. N., expects to attempt to break the new world's record of 266.68 miles an hour.

JAIL THREE AS SUSPECTS IN NUT THEFTS

Three alleged members of a gang of walnut thieves said to have operated in Santa Ana recently were held in the county jail here today.

Two of the men under arrest have been identified by William Smith, walnut buyer for the Guggenheim Packing company, as the pair who sold him a quantity of walnuts several days ago. The men under arrest are William Estes, 20 years old, asserted leader of the gang, who claims to be a truck driver and living at 1106 Orange avenue; Henry Brown, 23, laborer, living at the same address, and his brother, Ray Brown, 19, of the same address.

According to Chief of Police Claude Rogers, who with Inspector Sid Smithwick and Patrolman Harwood arrested the trio yesterday on information secured by Harwood, the men will be charged with grand larceny. Their asserted thefts were said by police to have netted them thirty-five sacks of walnuts. According to police, the men would drive to small walnut groves on the outskirts of the city and steal walnuts drying on trays or already sacked for market.

A gun was found in the room occupied by the trio and at the time of his arrest Estes had a ring containing more than a score of keys patterned after keys used on spring locks in the average residence, the police added.

SEEKS $40,000 FOR DEATH OF HER INFANT

A. W. Rutan, Santa Ana attorney, was made defendant today in a $40,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Sophie Schwartz of Los Angeles county, in the superior court here.

Basing her action upon an asserted collision between automobiles driven by her husband, Joseph Schwartz, and Rutan, which was said to have taken place November 26, 1922, on the Anaheim road between Long Beach and Santa Ana, the plaintiff charged Rutan with responsibility for the accident, in which she claimed to have been injured. The Schwartz car was overturned by the collision, she set forth.

A claim for $25,000 damages was made on account of shock which Mrs. Schwartz alleged caused her to give birth prematurely to a baby, which died, she claimed, as a result of her own injuries.

Alleging, further, that she was permanently injured so as to prevent her from bearing more children, she demands $15,000 additional damages. Attorneys Charles I. Rosin and Sam Davis represent Mrs. Schwartz.

JUSTICE COURT FINES MOUNT TO $37,800

That Justice J. B. Cox's court in Santa Ana is one of the most if not actually the most lucrative branch of the Orange county government, doing a volume of annual business greater than many mercantile institutions, was revealed today in figures announced by Justice Cox, showing receipts totaling $37,862.50 for the first eleven months of the present year.

These receipts, it was stated, cover automobile fines, all criminal fines, including those for liquor offenses, and civil fees.

Justice Cox has turned $20,097 into the county good-roads fund this year to date from fines paid by those who violate the traffic laws. All motor vehicle fines go toward this fund.

The next largest item of receipts was $17,081.50 for criminal fines; including liquor fines, which amounted to $12,747 from sixty-five such cases, the individual fines ranging from $25 to $500.

"I want to say in connection with those liquor fines," said Justice Cox, "that not a cent was spent for detective hire in getting evidence. Sheriff Jernigan's office handled the job entirely by itself."

Civil fees collected amounted to $684.

Belated Hallowe'en Jokers Do Stuff Here

Belated Hallowe'en jokers did their stuff last night, Chief of Police Rogers said today. He stated that E. J. Nash, 213 West Washington avenue, reported to police headquarters last night that boys were ringing his door bell and running away. In addition to annoying the Nash family by the continued ringing of the door bell the boys are said to have stole two locks from the garage door and destroyed several flower pots.

The neighborhood was searched by the police but the boys could not be found.

CALL NEW VENIRE IN 'SKYSCRAPER' TRIAL

Twenty-four men and women, comprising a special venire were summoned into Superior Judge F. C. Drum's court at 10 a. m. today for examination as jurors to hear the second trial of Edward J. Koerner, charged with fraud in connection with the recent so-called "skyscraper bubble" in this city.

The trial was held in the court room of Department 1, Attorney J. Moran Marmaduke, Los Angeles, appearing for the defense, and Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozely conducting the prosecution.

The calling of a special venire was made necessary by the fact that the regular jury panel was disqualified, having served or been examined for service at the first trial, in which the jury disagreed.

Koerner is charged specifically with obtaining $1375 from M. Eugene Durfee, northern Orange county architect, under false pretense in connection with a lease on a downtown corner in Santa Ana, where a proposed ten-story building was to be erected by Koerner.

OPEN $120,000
PAVING WORK
BIDS, PLAN

Opening of bids for paving estimated to cost $120,000 and hearing of protests for paving West Fifth street and streets in the Wishire tract will be business matters to come before the city council tonight. W. G. Knox, city engineer, stated today.

The bids to be opened are for improvement of portions of West
Eighth (formerly Hickey) street, North Garnsey, North Olive,
Lowell, West Sixth and Parker streets. All of this contemplated improvement work is to be done in the northwest part of the city.

Following the hearing of protests on West Fifth street, if there are any, the city council will instruct the city clerk to advertise for bids.
It was pointed out that a protest will not be effective unless the owners of more than 50 per cent of the frontage on West Fifth should protest.

Steele Finley, contractor to whom was awarded the contract for paving in front of lots on West Fourth street belonging to Frank Thomson and T. J. Compton, was scheduled to sign the contract late this afternoon, according to Knox.
The time allowed property owners in which to take over the work expired today.

MAN INJURED IN ACCIDENT ENDS
LIFE ON ROPE

Apparently despondent over continued ill health, William M. Scott, 55, committed suicide at an early hour this morning by hanging.
His body was found dangling from a fire escape at the rear of a rooming house, 216½ South Main street, by firemen from the engine house across the alley. Patrolman Jack O'Brien cut the body from the ladder at 6 a. m.

O'Brien said that both hands were clutched on the ladder rungs as though the man had attempted to pull himself to safety. The toes barely were touching the floor, he added.

The ladder, on which Scott, who was widely known here, hung himself, is directly outside the view of a room occupied by R.
M. Lamar. Lamar said that about 4 o'clock this morning he heard a noise outside his window, but he paid no attention to it, believing that the disturbance was caused by the wind. Lamar said he talked to Scott at 10 o'clock last night and found him apparently in good spirits.

Scott had in his pocket a note addressed to Coroner C. D. Brown.
The note said that Scott had abandoned hope of recovering from an accident of more than a year ago and had decided to end it all. He also asked that his body be sent to the Smith and Tutill establishment. This request was observed.

Scott, who was an employee of the Southern California Edison company, fell from a ladder in May, 1922. Both ankles were broken in the fall and since that time the man had been forced to use crutches or a cane. After being released from the hospital, it was said, his ankles were injured the second time. He had the hopes reset in the hope that they would knit properly.

An inquest was to be held late this afternoon, Coroner Brown announced. He thought a formal verdict of suicide would be rendered.

Scott is survived by an uncle,
Fred Mitchell, 214 French street, and a cousin, Mrs. Nora Stephens, 114 East First street, both of this city.

FOLK WITNESS
CEREMONY

Witnessing an important step in the plan to provide Santa Ana with one of the most modern buildings of the kind in the Southland, several hundred Santa Ana and Orange county residents assembled here late yesterday for the purpose of attending the Salvation Army cornerstone-laying at the Army's new home, Sycamore street between Second and Third streets.
"This," said Former Mayor J. G.
Mitchell, addressing the crowd, "is one of the best and finest things we could possibly do. It has always been a great pleasure for me to help, even in a humble way, an organization so worthy as the Salvation Army. This home, which comes as the result of hard work upon the part of the organizers and the splendid co-operation of the people of Santa Ana and vicinity, will be a lasting monument to the generosity of our people and the undimmed faith of the Army workers. I predict untold good from this movement."

Other speakers included P. S.
Lucas, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association; F.
C. Blauer, chairman of the ways and means committee; Ensign A.
Kranz and Brigadier C. R. Boyd of Los Angeles; Captain Tom Scott of San Francisco and others.
Blauer voiced his appreciation of the co-operation given the general committee in the drive to raise $25,000 for the Army. He pointed out that the committee must still raise $5,000.

"Those desiring to contribute
are urged to communicate with me or Secretary Lucas, telephone 621," Blauer said.

The copper block placed in the cornerstone contained, among other things, a copy of the Santa Ana Register, copies of the War Cry and the Young Soldier, a list of names including all those who assisted in the drive, a copy of the cornerstone program, individual cards of those present, a Columbian half dollar, a Harding memorial stamp, a list of the larger contributors to the Army fund and the names of all the committee members engaged in the building campaign.

Captain J. C. Douglass, local Army officer, was in charge of the detail work for the cornerstone laying. In the evening a great Salvation Army rally was held in the Army.

Source of Explosives Causing Hurts to Two Lands Yet Unexplained

There was no explanation to offer today, according to county authorities, for the presence of a can of asserted explosives, such as safe-crackers use, in the vicinity of Anaheim, where two boys, Robert Menzie, 14, and Homer Chandler, 15, were seriously burned
when they set off the explosive.
Menzie was at first thought to have lost the sight of one eye, which was badly burned, but at the County hospital today it was stated that his eye probably would be saved. Chandler was receiving treatment at an Anaheim hospital.
The boys found the can, which contained an apparent mixture of TNT and nitroglycerine, and tossed it into a well, where it exploded after they had struck it with a rock. The explosion was said to have hurled the lads some distance from the mouth of the well.

Medical Association
Meeting Is Scheduled

With two discussions of medical topics holding chief place on the program, members of the Orange County Medical association today were looking forward to their monthly meeting, which is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at the county hospital.
The paper of the evening, dealing with the subject "Some Observations of the Relation of Syphilis and Nervous Diseases," was to be delivered by Dr. F. E.
Coulter.

Orders Statutory Case
Prisoner to San Quentin

"Peddler Tom" Allen, convicted last week of a statutory offense, took his sentence today. Superior Judge R. W. Williams ordered Allen to serve a term of from six months to twenty years at San Quentin.
Allen, 55, and gray-bearded, was convicted by a jury which acquitted Frank Barkell, youthful joint defendant in the case. In court today, Allen told Judge Williams that he had been a peddler all his life.

If so they are asked to get in touch with Mrs. Winbigger by telephoning 60-R.

Those who will donate such articles to the section in its effort to raise funds for the new clubhouse, will confer a favor by telephoning Mrs. Winbigger.

MOTHER LOSES RACE TO SEE SON ALIVE

While she was hastening to Salt Lake City in response to a message stating her son, James Emery, had been fatally injured, Mrs. Nannie Emery of Los Angeles, a former Santa Ana, was apprised by telegram that she had lost in the race and that death had already claimed her son.

Meager details of the tragedy reached this city today when the news of the death was telephoned Mrs. Bruce Hays, 1740 North Baker street, a close friend of the family. Mrs. Emery received the first telegram Saturday afternoon and left immediately for Salt Lake City, with now knowledge of how her son was injured but informed there was little hope of his surviving.

The second telegram was from an undertaking establishment and conveyed the news of death from a gunshot wound. Mrs. Emery was engaged in the construction of a large oil refinery. He will be remembered by hosts of Santa Ana friends, as the family lived here for several years and he attended Orange County Business college.

FIND DEATH PISTOL SOLD TO S. A. MAN

The pistol used in the murder and robbery of Coleman Stone, Bell grocer, last Tuesday night was sold in Santa Ana by Joe Sinuel, the alleged slayer, to R. H. Lester, colored, of this city, according to Los Angeles county police today. Sinuel, alias Joe Senroy, and said to have worked in Santa Ana at one time, and Robert Mathews, alias, "Sugar Baby," alleged members of the gang charged with the slaying, were arrested Saturday at Del Mar, San Diego county, by Detective Lieutenants Lloyd and Roberts and Captain Hotz of the Los Angeles county sheriff's office.

Two other negroes were arrested in Los Angeles yesterday and are held in connection with the crime. They are Murphy Williams and Col. Pope. Williams is said to have killed Stone before he was shot to death. Pope is said to have driven Sinuel and Mathews to Santa Ana after the crime. Mathews, according to police, admitted being a member of the gang that committed the robbery.

Stone to either Sinuel or Williams. Williams admitted having been with the robber gang earlier in the evening and said that he had afterward destroyed the black-jack which he claimed he found in the car used by the gang. He denied actual participation in the crime.

Santa Ana police aided in trailing Sinuel and Mathews through Orange county. Police officers and deputies of Sheriff Jernigan picked up the trail of the two men and found that they spent the night and one day in Santa Ana, later boarding a train for San Juan Capistrano. There the trail was lost.

BELGIAN COMPOSER DUE TO PLAY HERE

Brahm van den Berg, pianist and composer of Los Angeles, will present a program of piano selections at the high school here at 9:45 a. m. and at the Frances E. Willard junior high school at 2:40 p. m. tomorrow, it was announced today by H. C. Nelson, principal of the Julia Lathrop junior high school.

Pointing out that Van Den Berg began his musical studies in Antwerp, Belgium, at the age of 5, and made his first tour of Europe as pianist and cellist at the age of 9, Nelson said that the program to be offered here tomorrow would give the school children an opportunity to hear a real artist.

"At 17, Van Den Berg conducted symphony concerts and before he was 20 appeared as soloist with the leading orchestras of Europe," Nelson declared, adding that Van Den Berg has appeared in America as soloist with a number of orchestras, including the Los Angeles Symphony and the Los Angeles Harmonic orchestras.

Southern District of C. F. W. C. Outlines Convention Plans

Of prime importance to club women generally will be the convening of clubs of the Southern District Federation at the Glenwood Mission Inn, Riverside, Tuesday, November 13, to continue up to and including the sixteenth. Many enthusiastic Santa Ana Ebell and Woman's club members plan to be in attendance at the winter sessions, all of which offer winners of import which were outlined at the latest Santa Ana Ebell society session when Mrs. Kenneth Oliver of Brawley, president of the Southern District Federation, was a brief but entertaining speaker.

Naturally the high light of the session will be the presence of Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the General Federation, who, in California as the guest of the state organization from November 6 to 16, will be the guest of the Southern district during the latter part of her stay and will speak Thursday afternoon. Accompanying her will be Mrs. John C. Unquhart, president of the state federation. With the sessions opening at noon Tuesday, that first afternoon will be given over to Mrs. Charles S. McKelvey who will preside at a "club institute" wherein each woman will be given an opportunity to speak briefly on club matters of general interest. That evening a formal reception will be staged at the Mission Inn.

At the Wednesday sessions, different speakers will be featured, one of the subjects of wide interest, to be the Boulder Dam project. Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald will discuss the national evil and in the evening entertainment will be offered by the Riverside Ebell club.

Thursday morning's theme will be that of the state's clubwomen for the year, "The Spiritual Force of Understanding," offering a pleasant prelude to the appearance of the general federation president. It has been stated that scores of Santa Ana women plan to motor to the convention city for this most interesting day which will include a banquet in the evening honoring Mrs. Winter.

In sketching the program, Mrs. Oliver spoke of the junior auxiliary recently organized by the state federation and commended the movement to train young girls in the essentials of a cultured clubwoman's life. She also stressed the importance of reciprocity days as observed at intervals by different clubs and urged co-operation and interest on the parts of all who listened to her.

Members of Santa Ana Ebell club who were named as delegates to the convention were Mesdames Alice Hatch, Samuel Nau, Edward M. Nealley, C. C. Violette, J. E. Gowen, J. P. Baumgartner, Hervey T. Truitt and Miss Beagle Lewis. Alternates named were Mesdames E. E. Keech, N. A. Beals, S. M. Davis, C. F. Smith, C. F. Crose, S. Horwitz, A. M. Gardner and J. W. Bishop.

Santa Ana Woman's club will be represented by Mrs. F. H. Finney and Mrs. F. A. Marks as delegates and Mrs. Ella Lash and Mrs. H. Clemmons as alternates.

Stitch and Chatter

When the Stitch and Chatter club members entertained their families late last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Marshall, 1212 North Ross street, the occasion yielding a merry time in a home gay with black and yellow garlands, black cats, owls, bats and other seasonal emblems.

The thirty members and guests had the unique experience of having their fortunes told by a professional who posed as a witch in a dark corner of the library. Other games and stunts including hidden cats, and feeding the jack-o'-lantern added much merriment to the evening.

When refreshments of sugared popcorn, apples and punch were served, each guest received a rhymed charm concealed in favors of walnuts tied with yellow and black ribbon. Reading these aloud added to the merriment.

P.-T. A. Plans Include Aid on Programs For All Associations

Presenting an educational program tomorrow afternoon at the stated monthly meeting, the Roosevelt P.-T. A. will institute the new duties of the city federation's art and educational committee of which Mrs. Roy Horton is chairman.

This committee, organized quite recently, is designed to aid each association of the city in putting on programs and fill in any time when there might be an unexpected vacancy. In outlining a plan to offer such co-operation, the committee decided that when called upon by an individual association, one subject might be taken up at each meeting, the time of the speaker to be limited to ten minutes.

Subjects chosen shall be of interest to home, child and school and are to include art, weaving, value of story-telling, good citizenship, honoring our flag and books.

Art will offer the indispensable beauties of every day life, not merely the so-called fine arts and will include interior decorating, furniture design, architecture, and other expression of beauty everywhere.

Because weaving dates back to the childhood of the world, it has been given a place while value of story-telling is to cultivate a taste for literature, art and music.

Books discussed will be those chosen by educators as being of prime interest to children, homes and parents and will be obtained through Mrs. Fred Taylor and the state federation's literature department.

Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. William Gaebler will review Jane Addams' "The Spirit of Youth in the City Streets." Other associations desiring aid on their programs may enlist the offices of the committee by telephoning Mrs. Horton, 1581J.

Wedding Anniversary And Birthdays Are Celebrated

A pleasant gathering at the H. E. Smith home, 919 East Washington street, yesterday served to celebrate three birthdays and a wedding anniversary, all of which fall within a few weeks of each other.

The anniversary was that of the host, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, who were wedded on the former's birthday, October 17, 1901, thus giving that date a double significance. The birthday of young Sterling Allen of Los Angeles, Mrs. Smith's grandson and of W. H. Thompson completed the list of celebrations.

A delicious chicken dinner was featured at the noon hour and the day was a truly happy family gathering enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Allen and children, Edna and Sterling and Mrs. Edna Carlson of Los Angeles. The Allens and Mrs. Carlson returned to Los Angeles last night.

Calumpit Tea Tells Plans For Bazaar In G. A. R. Hall

When the Calumpit Tea members met late last week with Mrs. Bertha Dixon at her West Fourth street home, all arrangements for opening the long-planned-for bazaar at G. A. R. hall, Wednesday, November 7, were completed down to the final detail.

Booths will offer many beautiful articles and since all were generously donated, they have been marked at the lowest possible price according to committee members, so will offer genuine bargains to Christmas shoppers.

Generous co-operation from the merchants has made the fish-pond possible and it promises to be one of the most popular booths. Mrs. Anna B. Jones will preside. At the apron and dress booth, Mrs. Estelle Dresser will serve while the miscellaneous booth to include rags with the many handsome articles of needlework and household linen will be in charge of Mrs. Minerva Winter.

Those wishing their fortunes told will find Mrs. Jean Tantlinger in the fortune telling booth while Mrs. Alice Gay will supervise the sale of home-made candies.

The hall will be decorated by a committee headed by Mrs. Bertha Dixon and at 2 o'clock, tables will be available for cards, with lovely prizes in needlework offered. Mrs. May Glaze heads the card party committee.

At 6 o'clock, dinner will be served, serving to continue until the evening program is introduced. The dinner menu will include creamed chicken, hot biscuits, creamed peas and carrots, cabbage salad, coffee and pumpkin or mince pie and will be served at a very reasonable price. The program to follow will be a varied one of music and other attractions and will be offered by various talented Santa Anans.

Request was made that those who had not yet turned in their donations to the bazaar should take them to Tuesday night's business meeting at G. A. R. hall or should deliver them at the hall early Wednesday morning.

Friendly Courtesies Continue to Honor November Bride

One of the most feted brides of the early winter is Miss Jewel Hickox whose marriage to Dana Keoch, scheduled for Saturday, November 17, will unite two of the city's most prominent families as well as two of her most popular young people.

Miss Hickox was delightfully honored on two successive afternoons last week, when smartly planned showers were given in her honor at the Earl Morris home, 812 East First street, Friday and at the William W. Hoy home, 1225 French street, Saturday.

BON VOYAGE

At the pleasant Morris home Friday afternoon, guests assembled at the invitation of Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Homer L. Cole, to wish Miss Hickox "bon voyage" on her contemplated journey on the "Good Ship Love" as Mrs. Morris expressed it in her gay little talk. The honoree's enthusiasm a year ago in regard to a contemplated trip abroad, was dwelt upon by the hostess, who related how Miss Hickox planned going with a personally conducted party and outlined the reasons why the trip was abandoned in favor of a still more thrilling but personally conducted one on the Sea of Matrimony.

Events leading to the change in plans were further amplified in a "Floral Love game," when flowers told the answer to leading questions. Following the clever contest, guests wrote "steamer" letters and their favorite recipes for the honoree and stitched on kitchen holders for use in her future home.

Just ere the refreshment hour when delectable ices and cake were served by Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Cole, a suit-case all packed for the voyage was brought in and as Miss Hickox unpacked it, she discovered beautiful and useful articles which her assembled friends had taken joy in selecting for her. The guests, over twenty in number, comprised old family friends of long standing and were from Laguna, Long Beach, and Tustin as well as Santa Ana.

minutes. Saturday afternoon, Miss Hickox failed to realize that it was merely a pretext to gain her presence, until she was literally showered with dainty linens and rose petals as she entered the living-room door. So sudden was the shower and so complete was the surprise that it was several seconds before the honoree realized that Mrs. Hoy and her two daughters, Mrs. Frank Finster and Mrs. Paul Olmstead, had conspired to offer her a charming compliment with over a score of her friends joining in with pleasure.

Following a more leisurely examination of the beautiful gifts which offered table and household linens in a wide variety, honoree and guests settled down to a happy afternoon with needlework as the entertainment together with gay reminiscences, since those present included many friends of Santa Ana High school and Pomona College days. At the tea hour, the trio of hostesses offered delicious individual cakes and ice cream, each plate bearing a quaint little nosegay of sweet, old fashioned posies.

3000 AT FIRST RITES IN NEW C. S. CHURCH

Attracting Christian Scientists from all sections of Southern California, first services were held yesterday in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Tenth and Main streets, with approximately 3,000 worshippers in attendance. John Randall Dunn, member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., will deliver the first lecture in the new edifice tonight at 8 o'clock.

Long before Sunday school was dismissed scores of Christian Scientists and their friends began arriving at the beautiful $115,000 edifice yesterday morning. By 10:30 a. m. the entire lower floor was comfortably filled. Fifteen minutes later the balcony entrances were closed, and the immense Sunday school rooms were thrown open. When First Reader Carl G. Strock opened the first service at 11 a. m., the church was filled to capacity. The edifice has a seating capacity of 1,200.

Marked by the utmost simplicity, the morning service, which was followed by a second service at 3 p. m., was rendered with the greatest precision, indicating painstaking preparation and rehearsal upon the part of those responsible for the various features of the opening ceremonies.

Garstang Opens Service
Harry Garstang, at the console of the mammoth Pilcher pipe organ, opened the morning service with Batiste's intermezzo, concluding this number by ringing, on the organ chimes, the first verse of Mary Baker Eddy's beautiful poem, "Over Waiting Harpstrings of the Mind." For the offertory, Garstang played Raff's Cavatina. As a postlude, he played Handel's Largo.

According to Garstang, the great organ, said to be the only instrument of its type in this section of the country, functioned perfectly, despite the fact that Garstang has had very few opportunities to practice upon it. Due to the fact that painters, carpenters, plasterers, decorators and other workmen had to labor until the middle of last week in order to get the church in order for first services, it was virtually impossible for C. A. Putney and the other Pilcher experts to "voice" the organ during the day.

"It was necessary," said Putney, who was in charge of installation, "to work virtually all night for several nights last week in order to have the big instrument in readiness. It required two months to install and properly 'voice' the organ."

Edifice Beautiful
First Church of Christ, Scientist, according to hundreds who visited the edifice for the three services held yesterday, is one of the most beautiful church structures in Southern California. Members of the building committee, who worked day and night in order to have the big edifice ready at 11 a. m., yesterday, said they were deeply grateful to all those who had helped prepare the building for occupancy.

Visitors present included many from Los Angeles, Long Beach, Redondo Beach, Hollywood, Glendale, Pasadena, South Pasadena, Santa Bernardino, Anaheim, Fullerton, Huntington Beach and many other cities of the Southland. Services were conducted by Carl G. Strock, first reader, and Mrs. H. S. Kittle, second reader. Miss Edith Cornell, soloist, sang Mary

BUFFALO BILL'S DOUBLE LIVES IN ALAMEDA

ALAMEDA, Nov. 5.—Colonel D. J. Burgess, hunter, trapper, mountaineer, plainsman and friend of Colonel William F. ("Buffalo Bill") Cody, has recently established himself in business at 1259 Park street after coming to Alameda in September from Wyoming, where he lived more than forty years.

Colonel Burgess has been mistaken for "Buffalo Bill" many times owing to the fact that he resembles the celebrated scout. With long flowing white locks hanging over his shoulders, the wide-brimmed western hat, and wearing the old-time Prince Albert coat, Colonel Burgess is a typical westerner of the old school. He heeded the call of the west in 1870 and joined a party of thirty immigrants who were heading out from Pennsylvania. Months later the party landed in Omaha, which was then a frontier town. The party remained for three months and then went Baker Eddy's poem, "Love," to an organ accompaniment by Harry Garstang.

Two tablets, placed immediately above the reader's rostrum, bear these inscriptions:

"Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make ye free."
"Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need."

The first is the utterance of Jesus Christ. The latter is from the writings of Mrs. Eddy.

through Nebraska into the state of Wyoming.

Rides Range
Colonel Burgess remained in Southern Wyoming until 1890, riding the range, working as a cowboy and hunting and trapping. In 1890 he decided to go north, and located on a claim of 160 acres, mostly timber land, in the vicinity of Sheridan, Wyo. From the forests which lay on his claim he hewed logs for his house and later engaged in marketing railroad ties and mine timber props, together with logs that were sawed for building materials. During the interim between the logging seasons Colonel Burgess hunted, trapped and fished, and his constant life in the open he holds responsible for his robustness at the age of 68 years.

Within the environs of the Big Horn mountains today stands the cabin which Colonel Burgess built and which he made his headquarters while on hunting expeditions. On the walls of his tiny store here are pictures showing the Colonel on his pony, gun in hand, and with the old-time trappings of the westerner.

Friend of Cody
His marked resemblance to "Buffalo Bill" is brought out vividly in these pictures. Buffalo Bill and Colonel Burgess became warm personal friends after they met at North Platte in the early eighties.

Speaking of his early experiences on the plains, Colonel Burgess recalled a time at Tie Crossing, Wyoming, when he witnessed the hanging of two horse thieves. The men, Colonel Burgess declared, were unceremoniously strung up to the arm of a telegraph pole, but he refused to state whether or not he took part in the primitive execution. During the Sioux Indian uprising, which was led by Chief Sitting Bull, Colonel Burgess acted in the capacity of scout for the whites.

Witnesses Rioting
He was present in 1883 in Rock Springs, Wyo., when the state soldiers were called upon to quell an outbreak between the miners and the Japanese and Chinese. The outbreak resulted in the killing of a number of Japanese and Chinese and the burning of their quarters. In describing the uprising Colonel Burgess said that the Orientals were shot down in cold blood as they emerged from their shacks. The whole affair, he says, started because a Japanese laborer shot and killed a white man in a poker game.

Saddles, guns, chips and other paraphernalia used by Colonel Burgess in Wyoming are still in his possession, and he has placed them on display at his store. He decided to retire several months ago, disposed of his holdings and came to Alameda, which possesses a climate, he says, in which he wants to live the rest of his days.

LOSES 13 DAYS IN ONE NIGHT SLEEPING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Millions of people who went peacefully to bed the night of September 30, according to their calendar, lost thirteen days before daylight the next morning. The next day for them was October 14, the beginning of the shortest month of their lives. Such is the result of the decrees of the "Pan-Orthodox Congress" of the various branches of the Eastern Orthodox church at a meeting last spring, fixing a time for the final abandonment of the Julian calendar, which was for 1600 years that of the Roman Empire and of the entire Christian world, and which, in the Christian calendar, has endured parts of the world, and which, in the Julian calendar, has endured to this day. The change occurred at midnight, October 13, on our common or Gregorian calendar. The old Roman calendar had been the Pope and for a long time the Protestant nations stuck to the old reckoning.

Among the nations outside of Christendom, Japan, China and Turkey followed the lead of the Western world, leaving Bulgaria and Greece and the Greek Orthodox church as the only adherents to the older system. But when that church is strong, as in Russia and Rumania, there have been two calendars in operation, the religious and the civil, resulting in much confusion.

MANY SEEK NAMING AS PARK CUSTODIAN

Besieged with applications for appointment as park custodian, the park commission will meet at the city council chambers Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock to select a successor to J. A. Taylor, who resigned Saturday, George Wells, a member of the commission, announced today.

Anyone interested in securing the position, as well as the public in general, is invited to attend the meeting, Wells said. Pointing out that the salary is $150 a month, with the custodian expected to pay from this sum help he may have to employ property to execute his work, Wells said that the position requires a man with some knowledge of tree and plant life. Skill in tree pruning, he said, is particularly necessary.

NEW FRENCH FILM STAR IS PRINCESS ATTRACTION
Renee Adoree, the delightful little French actress whose recent down on the film firmament has been one of the brilliant events of the season, didn't act, she says, when she played "The Six Fifty," new Universal attraction based on Kate McLaughlin's Broadway play, now showing at the Princess.
"I had to play a young farmer's wife," she explained. "And I had to cook dinner, wash dishes, and tidy the house. Now, I do all these things every day, as a matter of fact, housekeeping. So it was perfectly natural."
"In the scene where I cook the turkey in the old kitchen stove, I actually cooked it, going to work an hour before they took the scene, and that's how I was able to draw it from the oven all done and everything. And that dinner party on the screen, was a real dinner party, too. We took the scene at lunch hour, and after the films were ground, the cameraman and electricians, directors and stage hands joined the party; and what they didn't do to that turkey! Miss Adoree, known in private life as Mrs. Tom Moore, cooked a complete dinner for the screen during the "Anniversary Party" scene for the picture. She has a charming home in Hollywood, and loves to "mess around the kitchen" as she calls it, when not acting.

NEW INGRAM PICTURE AT PRINCESS TOMORROW
"When the critics acclaimed 'The Conquering Power,' Rex Ingram's picture following his masterly presentation of 'The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse,' as equalling and in some respects even surpassing that colossal production, we are sure that you will be eager to see it."

In this Metro version of the intensely human story of Balzac, dealing with a miser's gold and his daughter's love, Director Ingram has made a picture whose dramatic power and artistic beauty is bound to captivate any audience. Heading the stellar cast are Alice Terry and Rodolph Valentino, the two youthful principals who won nationwide fame for their portrayals in "The Four Horsemen."

Beginning Tuesday, "The Conquering Power" will be shown at the Princess for three days.

emas. The Prisoner of Zenda, a Metro production, had a successful run last year, and it is prophesied that the Selznick Distributing corporation's Rupert of Hentzau, which is now showing at the West End theater, will out-distance all previous photoplay winners.

While "Rupert" is somewhat of a costume picture, it has an unusually strong story with many dramatic situations, and although Director Victor Heerman gave much time and attention to the costuming of the piece, and no money was spared in making them perfect in every detail, he devoted the greater part of his energies to the transferring of the romance and adventure of the author's story to the screen. For after all, the important thing in a photoplay is not how the characters are dressed, but what they do and how they do it.

It is said that never before in screen history has such a cast of celebrities appeared in any one production as may be seen in Rupert of Hentzau. Elaine Hammerstein, Bert Lytell, Lew Cody, Bryant Washburn, Hobart Bosworth, Claire Windsor, Irving Cummings, Mitchell Lewis, Elmo Lincoln and Marjorie Daw are all popular stars, while Adolphe Menjou, Nigel de Brulier, Josephine Crowell and Gertrude Astor are well known for their many splendid portrayals in leading roles.

Bert Lytell, Hobart Bosworth and Bryant Washburn played in the stage version of Rupert of Hentzau, which they felt was of great benefit to them in their screen characterizations.

STUMBLED INTO ROLE IN TEMPLE PICTURE

Turning down would-be actors is one of the large and constantly growing activities of the screen producers. On rare occasions the position seeks the amateur. Wallace Kolb, who plays Harold Twynning in "If Winter Comes," had never given screen acting a thought when he walked into the William Fox studio with a friend, an actor who came to apply for a part in the screen version of the Hutchinson story.

Casting Director Ryan informed the professional that he was not the right type for the character, took a keen look at his companion and offered him the part. Young Kolb opened his mouth to explain that he had never considered becoming an actor, changed his mind and consented to take a test. The result satisfied Director Marry Millard.

"If Winter Comes" is the current attraction at the Temple theater.

UNITARIAN SERVICES ARE WELL ATTENDED

A large congregation yesterday greeted the Rev. Frank L. Hunt in the first service in the Unitarian church, Eighth and Bush streets, following resumption of services at the church.

Pointing out that there had been a large increase in population in Santa Ana in the past two or three years, Ben Tarver, a member of the Unitarian society, today said a great many men and women now in the local Unitarian congregation were present yesterday.

The Rev. Mr. Hunt will preach next Sunday, and on the two Sundays following a minister will come here from Berkeley to supply the pulpit. Later the congregation expects to issue a call to some one to take charge of the local congregation, Tarver said.

MASONS DIRECT BUILDING BE REMODELED

The Masonic bodies of Santa Ana will not trade their property on the northeast corner of Fifth and Sycamore streets for a portion of the Minter property on the southwest corner of Third street and Broadway, it became known today.

According to O. M. Robbins, director and secretary of the Masonic Temple association, the directors of that organization have received instructions to develop plans for remodeling the present building of the organization.

An exchange of sixty feet of the Masonic association's property on Sycamore street for 100 feet of the Minter frontage on North Broadway had been considered for some time, it was learned.

With a majority of the stock of the association in the hands of members of Santa Ana Lodge No. 241, R. and A. M., members of the latter lodge recently met and decided to authorize the association directors to proceed with remodeling of the old structure, Robbins said.

The directors are Len F. Harvey, E. B. Trago, E. B. Smith, Marshall Keeler, Max Reinhaus, O. M. Robbins and A. C. Bowers. It is expected the directors at their next meeting will take further steps in connection with the plan.

Pointing out that there are now seven Masonic bodies in this city, Robbins said that it was imperative that larger quarters be provided. Among the suggested plans for offering relief is the providing of another lodge room. The second story of the old fire hall, adjoining on the north the Masonic building proper, would be utilized for this purpose, Robbins said.

It is reported that plans for the Broadway building, had the exchange been made, called for a four-story fireproof building.

PROPOSE DRIVE ON 'Y' PLEDGE DELINQUENTS

With 400 pledgers to the Y. M. C. A. building fund delinquent in the amount of $19,026 on payments due July 1 and before, directors of the organization today were giving consideration to a plan for calling into action forty or fifty active workers to clean up the delinquencies, according to E. B. Sprague, treasurer.

Pointing out that the association is embarrassed in its building program by failure of men and women to meet their pledges, Sprague said that at the next meeting of the directors plans probably would be discussed for organizing a drive to collect the amounts due.

Five Fire Engines Called to Rescue Drowning Man, 43

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—Five fire engines, two ladder trucks, one rescue truck and one water tower, plus the district chief, were called out when an excited passerby saw a man fall in the water from Windsor Cement company's wharf. The man, William Crowell, 43 years old, of Roxbury, was seen walking near the edge of the wharf before he fell in. He was rescued by William Whalen and John M. Fegan, firemen attached to Engine No. 3, and taken to the city hospital. Crowell was fished out of the water by means of hooks.

According to the treasurer, since July 1 three notices have been sent to each delinquent, advising of this fact and requesting prompt payment.

"The pledges are absolutely good, and should be collected," said Sprague. "Many of the pledges delinquent were made by prominent persons and failure to pay probably is due more to thoughtlessness than to intention to evade payment."

Stating that if all pledges due are paid, the association will be short approximately $50,000 when the building is completed, Sprague said that there is a wish on the part of a great many Y. M. C. A. supporters to see the building clear of debt when it is dedicated.

He said dedication probably would be on February 1, next, and that before that date a campaign may be conducted to secure the additional amount.

The additional cost is due to enlargement of the original plans, it was added. Sprague explained that this action was approved at a meeting held March 5, last, to which all subscribers were invited.

ELKS LODGE AT ORANGE NEARS INSTALLATION CEREMONIES

High Officers to Attend Dinner and Reception to Youngest Chapter

50 MEMBERS SIGNED

Monster Celebration May Be Held With Few Weeks, Prediction

Following a conference between officers elect and H. S. Williamson, district deputy, indications were today that the Orange lodge of Elks, recently authorized by the national organization, will be installed within the next few weeks, according to W. W. Wasser, secretary of Santa Ana lodge No. 34, here today.

According to tentative plans, H. B. Kirtland, president of the State Elks association, will be in attendance, as will other high officials from all sections of Southern California.

With more than fifty members affiliated with the new lodge, Orange Elks today were quietly making preparations for a monster reception and dinner when the installation ceremonies are held in Orange. It is understood that officers have been agreed upon by those instrumental in forming the new lodge, but their names will not be announced until the district deputy, acting under instructions from the grand exalted ruler of the organization, conducts the necessary examinations.

"This lodge," Secretary Wasser explained, "will be instituted with beautiful and impressive ceremonies, with more than fifty members of the Santa Ana lodge dropping out here and affiliating with the Orange lodge."

"In addition to officers and members of Santa Ana lodge, there will be a great number of Elks, including the state president and the district deputy in attendance. Invitations also will be extended many Elks residing in Southern California cities and members of other lodges in this district."

Wasser said it was probable the new lodge will be installed within a month.

Society Woman Leases Stable for Residence

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—At last Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, society woman and actress, has definitely identified herself with New York bohemian set.

For two or three years the beautiful Mrs. Hoyt had been accused by her social register friends of veering to the artistic, neglecting the Park avenue side of life.

Mrs. Hoyt's lease of a stable in the heart of the bohemian section—MacDougal alley—establishes her as a real inhabitant of the village. People who are in art for art's sake only cannot afford to hand over $4000 every twelve months—which is the price Mrs. Hoyt pays for her stable. Of course, it is a renovated stable—but even at that the average upturner would think $4000 a high price.

RADIATE SUNSHINE, LAUDER'S MISSION IN APPEARING HERE

Sir Harry Sings Each Year to More People on World Tours

The preliminary interest that has been aroused by the announcement that Sir Harry Lauder, the famous singing comedian, and his company of entertainers, are to appear at the high school auditorium here November 16, under the auspices of the Santa Ana Musical association, is not surprising, according to W. D. Coxey, Lauder's press representative.

"Lauder is one of the world's most interesting personalities," Coxey said. "He is not only an artist to his fingertips; but he is also an individual whom the great of the earth love to honor."

"In England he is the friend of royalty and the nobility; in the United States he has been a guest at the White House, and has been honored by many of the country's most representative organizations. He is thoroughly democratic—a man of the people, despite the fact that he has received the accolade of knighthood—and his millions of friends and admirers include rich and poor alike."

"Lauder's confessed mission in life—and his remarkable career proves the truth of it—is to radiate sunshine through the medium of his homely songs and lilting melodies. That his mission has been successful is attested by the fact that his public has grown year by year until the theaters where he sings are rarely large enough to hold the crowds that want to hear him."

One of Lauder's latest songs breathes the spirit of his entire philosophy. It is called "Singing Is the Think to Make You Cheery," and those who have heard it declare that among all Lauder's cheery songs this is the cheeriest. Another new song which is said to make the smiles race over the face of the most phlegmatic is a descriptive melody of the singer's own little corner of Scotland. It is called "Bella the Belle o' Du-noon," and its title suggests the individuality and merry lilt that is characteristic of all of Lauder's comedy songs.

"There is a universal desire to see—and hear—Lauder. No artist is sought after; and the fact that he is coming to this city meets with popular approval."

Sailor Leaps Overboard Rather Than Leave U. S.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 5.—The "sweet land of liberty" call was so strong in a young German seaman that he jumped overboard from the German steamer Hanna Kintine as she was passing out to sea through the Virginia Capes.

After many hours spent in the water he succeeded in reaching the Cape Henry lighthouse, located on the mainland, late last night, where, lighthouse attendants said, he ate ravenously. He is in the Norfolk city jail awaiting action by the immigration authorities.

The sailor is the second foreigner to jump overboard near the Cape within a few months. A Danish stowaway, following deportation here recently, plunged into the waters between the capes and, after being beset by whales, sharks and porpoises, and carried some miles by the tide, was picked up.

Horses Call Out Police Reserves by Telephone

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 5.—Choking sounds and thumps as of blows, heard over the telephone here brought out the police reserves.

An exchange operator frantically called, "Number please," while police raced in motor cars to the scene.

Breaking into the Walter Stapleton building, the police found that a snorting horse, making a lot of gasps in chewing hay, reached his nose through a hole in his stall wall and knocked the telephone off a shelf close by.

The thumps were made by his stablemates kicking the sides of their stalls.

Examination Day For Delhi Postmaster Is Past Minus Applicant

Saturday having passed without anyone having appeared for examination for the position of postmaster, the probability that the Glorietta post office at Delhi would be closed appeared very close to a certainty today. At the Santa Ana post office, at which office anybody who desired to take the examinations for postmaster at Glorietta, had appeared, it was stated that the general practice of the post office department is to close the office for examinations, and then, if no applicant appears, to close the office.

The office is in the Bercaw store. E. H. Bercaw, proprietor of the store, is postmaster. He resigned weeks ago.

Alimony or Jail, Says Judge of Butte County

OROVILLE, Nov. 5.—A dissertation upon the alimony habits of the male divorcee by Superior Judge H. D. Gregory featured a hearing in the superior court in the matter of the case of Corbin versus Corbin. The wife charged Corbin was $6000 in arrears and that he had twice married since his divorce from her two years ago.

Here are some of the conclusions regarding alimony that Judge Gregory has arrived at after many years on the bench.

That when a man is divorced, almost without exception he objects seriously to paying alimony.

That the above is particularly true if he marries again.

That the only way to assure the payment of alimony is to force its payment.

AUTHOR OF BAD CHECKS WOULD BE LISTED

Banks to Give Names When Paper Worthless; Daily Record Contemplated

Additional measures taken by the Merchants and Manufacturers' association for the protection of that organization's membership in the matter of worthless checks were disclosed today by P. S. Lucas, secretary. Lucas said that arrangements have been made with all Santa Ana banks for a daily report of all checks returned because of insufficient funds, no funds, no account, forgeries and other irregularities.

A record of these checks will be kept by the association and circulated among the members for their protection, according to Lucas. The merchants will do up all checks twice daily in order that an accurate check may be kept on habitual writers of insufficient fund checks, he added.

"In connection with this added service I wish to urge everyone to be more careful in keeping check stubs and maintaining an accurate watch on their bank balance," Lucas declared. "I realize that, through error or neglect to enter the amount of a check on the stub, anyone is quite liable to overdraw his bank account. These names will be published along with others and a possible injustice may be done the other way. If everyone will use a little care in account keeping, this injustice will be lessened to a great extent."

According to Lucas, this system of banking reports has been used in Sacramento and has met with success. It has lessened the number of insufficient fund checks written through carelessness and has been a big help to the police in apprehending forgers and other check swindlers, he concluded.

Norseth pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Nov. 13 at 2 p. m.

WOMEN'S ROOM AT ELKS CLUB PLANS MADE

Prepared to turn the basement of the Elks club into a model club room for women, workmen today were rapidly completing preliminary plans for the remodeling of the lower floor of the big Sycamore street structure.

In compliance with a popular demand, the trustees of Santa Ana lodge several weeks ago decided to authorize the expenditure of $5000 in a plan to equip the club with every modern convenience in playing host to the wives, mothers, sisters and other relatives of Elks.

In general discussion, at that time, it was pointed out that the Santa Ana lodge was one of the few large clubs in the United States which was not equipped with reception rooms for women. In the basement, with entrances from Sycamore street, the trustees and lodge members agreed that this was the logical place for the establishment of clubrooms for women.

Upon completion of the remodeling, now under way, adequate furnishings will be added, including rugs, tapestries, davenport, comfortable chairs, reading lamp, and other accessories. The restaurant will also be moved into the basement, making it possible for Elks and their families to patronize the restaurant. Tables will be arranged for women and a commodious lunch counter will be installed for men.

According to Secretary Warren, the quarters now being equipped for women probably will be available within the next few weeks. Work will progress rapidly following the arrival of several steel beams this week.

Witch Is Accused In Epidemic Among Geese

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 5.—The "swan song" has become the "goose song" at Freemansburg. For a week scores of geese, supposedly headed by a witch, have been dying, greatly to the distress of their owners.

The cause of the wholesale passing out is still a mystery. Some of the foreigners declare the birds were bewitched. Others suspect moonshine whiskey. Choral poisoning has been suggested. At any rate, the geese continue to die.

Mrs. Julia Yoski, who has lost twenty-two geese, has caused the arrest of Mrs. Mary Yurko on suspicion that Mrs. Yurko is responsible for their deaths. Mrs. Yurko denied she had any grudge whatever against a goose.

Both women were held under $500 bonds to keep the peace, and Mrs. Yurko was held for trial also on a charge of malicious mischief.

Marriage No Picnic Date, Claims Judge

SEATTLE, Nov. 3.—How long after marriage should a woman wait to determine whether she has made a mistake?

Mrs. Vivian P. Nicolai thought two months was plenty. She got a divorce from Fred Nicolai on the ground that he hadn't supported her during their entire married life—of two months.

"Some of you young women of today," commented Superior Judge Everett Smith in granting the decree, "look upon marriage as lightly as you would a date for a picnic—to be canceled to make room for another."

INSANE PATIENT LAW WOULD BE TESTED HERE

That a test case, attacking the validity of the state law under which insane asylum authorities have been turning back to Orange county those insanity cases regarded as incurable, may be filed in the near future by Orange county, was intimated today by the district attorney's office.

It was made known that the local authorities doubt the constitutionality of the state law in question, which was quoted recently by the asylum authorities, in the sending back to this county of six insane patients, pronounced incurable. The law was purported to provide that such patients could be returned to those counties having facilities for caring for them. The state authorities regarded the new psychopathic ward at the Orange county hospital as bringing this county within the scope of the law.

According to the district attorney's office the law is questioned on the grounds that the constitution provides that "all laws of a general nature must have uniform application."

The law here involved, it is contended, discriminates between counties.

It was difficult to convince a Redpath Lyceum patron, who is totally blind, that he had not heard a play given by a complete company, when Selma Lenhart recently presented "Erstwhile Susan" in his home town.

H. G. Nelson, principal of the Julia Lathrop junior high school, said today, "Miss Lenhart, (who will appear in one of her well-known dramatic recitals on the junior high school entertainment course at the Frances Willard junior high school, North Main street, here Friday evening, November 9, received from this Lyceum enthusiast the following letter which she considers one of the most gratifying tributes ever tendered her:

"It was my special privilege recently to hear you read 'Erstwhile Susan.' Although I am totally blind, your characters were portrayed so distinctly that I have a definite picture in my mind of each character and its action. I did not miss a line, word or syllable of any character. Your articulation was wonderful, and your impersonation of each was reality itself. I especially wish to compliment you on your Pennsylvania Dutch dialect. In short, if I had not had absolute confidence in the friends who accompanied me, I should not have believed that one person was truly marvelous."

MOTHERS HERE AGAIN WARNED TO BAR TOTS FROM MATCH CONTAINER

Fire Chief Asks Holders Put Out of Reach, In Citing Recent Fires

WINDS INCREASE PERIL

Proper Gas Heater Use Is Outlined In Effort to Eliminate Menace

Fire Chief John Luxen, younger issued a warning today to mothers, in reporting that during the month of October two fires were caused by children playing with matches. One of these fires, the chief pointed out, caused property damage.

Chief Luxen requested that mothers keep all matches in tin containers and out of the reach of children. "It is only natural that children will play with matches if it is possible to get hold of them," the chief added. "A child that cannot be resisted. By leaving matches within reach of the children, the mothers not only are endangering property, but lives as well."

Rubbish Fire Source "Another thing that I would like to caution Santa Anans against is the burning of rubbish on windy days. At this time of year this section is visited by dry north winds that increase the fire menace to a considerable extent. I would suggest that people refrain from starting fires in the yards on days when the wind is blowing."

"It is necessary that these fires be lighted, great care must be taken that every spark is extinguished before the fire is left unattended, even for a minute. In that minute sparks may fly, possibly causing a dangerous fire with big property damage."

Gas Tubes Cited "Gas heaters and cook stoves sometimes create a fire menace because they are not properly cared for. Many persons use heat-carrying flexible connecting tubes. This tubing wears out after a year or two of service and allows gas to escape. It is an easy matter for a fire to start from these escaping fumes."

"In order to assist the people of Santa Ana in protecting themselves against this danger I have arranged for an inspection service in connection with the fire department. If when the gas heaters are installed for the winter the housewife will telephone 1959—that is the fire department office—I will send a man to inspect the heater. He will go over it thoroughly and recommend any changes that might be necessary."

"Another danger that has been called to my attention recently is the practice of inserting pennies in electric fuse boxes to replace burned-out fuses. This is a dangerous practice, as it forms a permanent short circuit and, when the electricity load becomes too great for the wires, there is no outlet."

Record Is Good "The current burns out the wire and in many cases causes fires that are blamed to defective wiring. The electrician is blamed for a fire that could have been prevented by the purchase of a new fuse. The penny is inserted to reopen a circuit. This practice is not only dangerous, but many times also expensive."

"During the past month there were only nine fire alarms. There were six general alarms, one false alarm and two still alarms. The total property damage by fire during the month was $956. This is a good record for a city the size of Santa Ana."

"The department constantly is working to reduce the fire damage through prevention of fires—and I consider that one fire prevented is a greater accomplishment for the department than the prompt response to a fire alarm. The suggestions that I have just made are for the furthering of this program of fire prevention and I am earnestly requesting the co-operation of Santa Anans."

ALAMEDA COUNTY IN WATER DEARTH

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Water supply, and the necessity of voting, were called to the attention of the Down Town association at its meeting in the Hotel St. Francis. Statistics were produced to show that the prevailing condition required action by the citizens. B. D. Marx Green, former attorney of Berkeley, quoted figures to show that Alameda is actually facing a water shortage.

"The east bay district and San Francisco must get together on their water supply because the former is facing a water shortage that is actually upon us. Alameda county has a limited supply of water, while San Francisco has plenty."

"Engineers who have been working on the problem of a new source of water supply for Alameda county have told us that the east bay district must have a new source of supply in five or six years. We have been told that by 1925 we will not have any water available for an increased population. That means that we cannot expand, for there is only enough water available for the present population for five or six years. A water crisis is the most vital crisis that a community can face."

FATAL RACE OF HORSES TOLD BY PIONEER

HAYWARD, Nov. 5.—Joseph C. Peralta, 73-year-old pioneer of San Leandro, born and raised within the limits of the cherry city, enjoys the distinction that at least one old gentleman in every community with a population of less than ten thousand persons of being the town historian, chock-full of all the old legends and tales that grew with the locality and have been preserved, and very often embellished considerably, as told and retold. Peralta knows and remembers everything that has happened of importance in San Leandro from the day that it was a cow field; he can relate stories, humorous and tragic, by the hour. He likes nothing better than to gather an appreciative audience around him and launch into episodes long forgotten by all save himself.

Set On Horses

Here is a story that was told to a group of local visitors to the city hall, and, despite its apparent improbability, the old pioneer stoutly maintains that it is entirely true:

"More than fifty years ago horse racing was all the rage here. Men from San Leandro and all the southern part of the country would bring their favorite mounts around on race day, and what a scramble and commotion there would be! Large sums would be bet; land and cattle put up as wagers and many a time some fancier with a misplaced confidence in his wily, poxeyed old mount would stand by with a sour face and watch twenty or thirty of his friends drink themselves foolish at his expense."

Race Arranged

"Now there were two young fellows in San Leandro who thought that they owned just about the fastest horses in captivity. They'd challenged and re-challenged each other, hurled all kinds of rough words around and were each confident that the other was scared to death. Finally, through the efforts of their friends, the two arranged for a race—the main event of a Sunday afternoon program. While a crowd along Estudillo avenue cheered themselves sick, the rival horses, both of San Leandro, rode up, all ready for business."

Narrow Course

"Now this race was to be one mile and, in order that the animals wouldn't get too close, they said that even the horses were angry at each other, it was arranged that the start would be made from the center of the track, the animals headed in opposite directions. At the start they would run to one end of the field, still in opposite directions, wheel and head for the other end, and then back to the other end, and then back to the center of the field. The mounts were ready, the bell changed and, while the people cheered, some more, the two animals dashed away from each other."

"Both gained their respective track ends at about the same time, both wheeled and headed for the other end of the course. It was going to be close, according to the looks of things. The riders' teeth were clenched. Even the horses had entered into the spirit of the thing. And then it happened."

Horses Collide

"The race course was wide enough, but the racers drew near each other as they approached the center of the track. Perhaps the animals had their eyes closed and were rushing ahead blindly; perhaps they didn't even feel the frantic sawing of their riders. They got closer and closer, head on. There was a cry of alarm from the watchers; simultaneous yells from the frightened jockeys, and then with a thud the two horses hit head foremost. The animals dropped with their riders."

"The collision killed both horses immediately. Fry and Ahern were rendered unconscious and neither came to for an hour or more. With the exception of bruises, no harm was suffered by the two men."

Peralta declares the incident to be accurately narrated as it occurred.

Wrong Baby Given To Man Leads Police In Death Investigation

DETROIT, Nov. 5.—Police continue the search of high weeds, trees and a creek adjacent to the house occupied by Alfonso Viemminck, for the body of the three-week-old baby of William Greatrex, given to Viemminck by mistake at the Evangelical Deaconess hospital, where he called for the baby born to his 18-year-old daughter, Eva Viemminck. Viemminck, held by the police, has been under criminal questioning and officers say, has told conflicting stories of what disposition was made of the baby given him at the hospital.

Greatrex discovered that the baby held at the hospital was not his when he returned from Toronto Canada, after the burial of his wife, who died eleven days after the birth of the child. The hospital then admitted an error had been made and sought the child given Viemminck. When the baby could not be found, police were called and Viemminck was arrested. According to the police, Viemminck said he gave the baby to a stranger he met in a saloon. Questioning of the daughter, brought out no information regarding the whereabouts of the child, police, bring an unusual accusation of the daughter against her father and also the admission of the birth of another baby to her about two years ago.

Prosecutor Paul W. Voorhees asserted that until the baby was found, dead or alive, no action could be taken against Viemminck. Meanwhile, Viemminck's daughter's baby is at the hospital.

Thirsty Auto Goes Right Into Saloon

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—An automobile owned by Frank P. Markey, 338 Sterling place, Brooklyn, became unmanageable, according to the police, ran up on the sidewalk at Fourth and Atlantic avenues, Brooklyn, crashed through the front door of a former licensed saloon and stopped when the automobile struck the bar.

Markey, who was said to have been driving the automobile, and his companion, George Bartell, 375 Sterling place, Brooklyn, were thrown out.

When the police reached the saloon, which is owned by Thomas Perco, 733 Atlantic avenue, witnesses said, Markey was bleeding from a wound in the head, and that Bartell had taken him away.

CLEAR MYSTERY OF GEM LOST AT RESORT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—A diamond and platinum ring valued at $8000, belonging to Mrs. Murod Saleeby of Manila, which disappeared under unusual circumstances at Taos-at-the-Beach last June 18, was found under similar circumstances.

The ring was found knotted in a small handkerchief, that was pinned to the folds of one of the curtains in the main cafe. It was found by employees of the place while renovating the interior decorations. The gem had been pinned to the folds of the curtain since the day that it mysteriously disappeared, police say.

The ring was turned over to Chief of Police O'Brien, who directed Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson to communicate with Mrs. E. M. Saleeby, 1188 Santa Clara avenue, San Jose, sister-in-law of Mrs. Murod Saleeby, who is now in Manila.

The ring was lost when Mrs. Murod Saleeby, with her sister-in-law and Mrs. John Pickering of Manila, was at tea in a cafe. Mrs. Saleeby went to the dressing room, leaving her two diamond rings on the washstand and returned to the table, not discovering her loss until nearly an hour later. As she was reporting it to the management she was accosted by Mrs. M. C. Gibson, 314 California street, wife of the vice-president of the American National bank, who asked:

"Did you lose something?"

"Two rings," answered Mrs. Saleeby.

"Here is one of them. I lost the other," Mrs. Gibson is reported to have said, at the same time handing Mrs. Saleeby the smaller of the two rings.

Mrs. Gibson's explanation was that she had found the two diamond rings on the washstand and placed them in her handbag, bringing them back to the dining room, where she was having tea with five women friends. When she opened her purse to show her friends what she had found, with a view to looking for the owner, only the smaller of the two rings was there. In some manner, she explained, she had lost the larger ring between the washroom, where she had found the gems, and the table where her party was seated in the cafe.

NEGRO WOMEN URGE NORTHERLY EXODUS

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—That negro women, striving for better conditions for themselves and their husbands, and better educational and other advantages for their children, are behind the migration of southern negroes from the plantations to the northern cities, is the conclusion of Rev. W. A. C. Hughes, superintendent of the department of negro work of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Dr. Hughes, himself of negro blood, has made a wide study of the conditions and reasons causing the southern negroes to migrate to the cities and factories of the north.

"Behind the industrious, hard-working negro man in this present migration is the negro wife and mother," says Dr. Hughes. "The constant dread that a son or a husband will say 'too much' is the thing that is wearing threadbare the nerves of the negro woman of the south. Added to this is the lack of opportunity for her child, and she is the driving power of the present movement from the south."

Illinois seems to be the favored locality, according to Dr. Hughes. "More than 100,000 negroes have left 11,000 farms in Georgia alone," he declared.

DRY AGENTS IN HILLS FACING SHORT LIVES

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 5.—In a period of twenty-three months in this state, fifteen or sixteen regularly employed prohibition enforcement agents for the state were either killed or injured, according to Dr. O. M. Pullen, superintendent of the West Virginia Anti-Saloon league, in an address before a mass meeting here.

Of those responsible for killing dry agents, only one has been convicted and sentenced, he said, and the sentence in this case has not been made effective.

Dr. Pullen recalled the fight, by forces in the 1923 legislature, to restrict the enforcement program by cutting down appropriations:

but he said sufficient pressure had been brought to bear upon the legislators during the legislative fight that the money asked had been forthcoming, and in addition, certain clauses had been added to the statute, which are expected to make the force stronger and nearly self-supporting.

Sheriff William Dean of this county was classed as one of the officers of the state who are endeavoring honestly to enforce the state prohibition law.

State Prohibition Commissioner W. B. Brown of Charleston, spoke on the need of a more active and wholehearted popular support of the enforcement program. He declared that people who favor enforcing the laws must awake to the fact that much pressure is made to bear by law breakers upon officers of the law in an effort to injure the enforcement program, and those who want to support the laws must exert a similar pressure in the proper direction. Recommendations were adopted by the mass meeting, addressed to the 1923 legislature, urging teaching of temperance lessons in the schools, that the pulpit be used to impress proper citizenship ideas upon the people, and that public drunkenness be punishable.

BUILDING OVER COUNTY SHOWS NEW RECORDS

FULLERTON, Nov. 5.—All records for Fullerton building in one year will be broken by the 1923 construction, it is indicated on the face of marks already piled up. Including October permits representing $1,517,576 have been issued. Last year at this time the figure was $1,344,805. These figures show that there has been $170,000 more building in the first ten months of 1923 than was recorded in that period in 1922.

The aggregate amount of school building here in the whole of 1922 was $1,544,526. The estimated value of the school buildings in 1923 is placed at $239,000.

The October building figures was $166,272, second in Orange county to Santa Ana.

ANAHEIM RECORDS BIG OCTOBER TOTAL

ANAHEIM, Nov. 5.—The building permits issued in 1923 here total $1,988,823, not counting the first few days of November. It is shown by figures in the possession of J. W. Price, building inspector.

While October building is not the highest of the year the remarkable feature is that most of the permits were for residences. Price said. Not one permit for a large building was issued during October.

The total for the year now stands at approximately $11,000 under the $2,000,000 mark, a figure never equaled in the history of the Mother Colony.

LAGUNA GUN CLUB PLANS GOOD YEAR

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 5.—From the latest report of the Gun club, recently formed in Laguna Beach, that organization promises to take its place in the foremost of recreations.

The membership now numbers sixty-eight and among those who signed up are several women who are, or are willing to become, trapshooters. Wednesday of last week the first active engagement for some of the members took place when a delegation of those who couldn't evade the issue, left the confines of the immediate city for the less populated section near the school house and there put in several hours of toil on the exceedingly resilient ground. This area was selected for the location for the traps, as it is within easy access for all and yet far enough removed from the town to cause no danger.

Enthusiasm is especially pronounced at present and the first shoot will be cause for great acclaim, with probably much weeping when it is learned what lack of practice does to shooters.

MUSICAL COURSE AT ORANGE SCHOOL

ORANGE, Nov. 5.—An attractive course, which will bring delight to all lovers of music of this community, has been arranged by Orange high school.

With Charles Wakefield Cadman, the Orpheus Male quartet and the Philharmonic orchestra on the program the course gives promise of being a great success.

The opening night will be November 19, with a concert given by the Lyric club of Los Angeles.

The second number will be December 10. The Los Angeles trio will furnish the entertainment for the evening. The trio is composed of May McDonald Hope, pianist, and Ilya Bronson, violinist.

BULLETIN BOARD AT BEACH STOLEN

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 5.—The dignity of the Woman's club and other civic organizations was unduly distributed last Thursday when the discovery was made that the village bulletin board had been appropriated by the boys in search of Halloween fun and carried to some out-of-the-way section of town.

An appeal to Chamber of Commerce officers failed to raise their ire enough to effect the replacing of it and at last report the town had not recovered its "daily newspaper." Wise merchants, realtors and business men placed their hand locked doors until the spirit of vandalism became no longer legal.

COSTA MESA, Nov. 5.—The Orange County Harbor Masonic club will hold their third monthly meeting at this city November 7. This being the first night that the women will attend, it is expected that every member will bring either his wife or sweetheart to the banquet.

The women of Costa Mesa, who are preparing the banquet have requested holders of tickets to report to them the number of persons expected so that they could prepare accordingly.

George Peabody will be chairman of the meeting and a number of speakers will be present from Santa Ana and Los Angeles. Among these speakers will be C. G. Coogan of the time company and D. Eymann Huff, president of the Orange county Shrine Club.

LAGUNA'S SLOUGH IS TO DISAPPEAR

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 5.—After months and years of haggling and wrangling, estimating and refusing estimates, pleading and vain efforts the prize sore spot of Laguna Beach has gone the way of all deliriums.

W. G. Heisler spent much money and more time trying to interest different civic groups in the speedy operation of the slough's elimination, but failed so repeatedly that his only resort was to personally see that it did not continue to exist.

Everyone granted that it was an eyesore and liberally agreed that there was only one solution of relief from its ignoble stench, but when specifications called for an allotment of cash the enthusiasm died down.

Finally, Mr. Heisler concluded to act on his own resources and with a crew of eight men employed by the Ledbetter company of Los Angeles the actual work of elimination was begun last week.

The planned construction consists of drainage, after which check dams, and a huge bulkhead will be installed. This will provide a depository for silt and debris carried down by the rains and the check dams will keep the high tides from washing into the bed that formerly was the slough.

It can easily be seen that this improvement bests any suggestion so far received in lieu of funds and though the picturesqueness of the slough, and the names of the slough, with its floating extinct animals, tires, shoes and other portions of wearing apparel, will not be with us very long, we still have many fully as embarrassing unsanitary objects to answer for and turn to.

Social-Personal Notes of Orange

By BERTHA FRENCH

ORANGE, No. 5.—The piano classes of Orange high school are going ahead very rapidly in their work, already they have an assurance and positiveness about their playing that is very important.

Last Wednesday several members of the sixth period class played for the rest of the class. All the pieces that were played had been memorized.

Those who played them were: Cherokee Rose (Bilbro) Kathryn Ryan Marcheta (Nevin) Wilma Adams Album Leaf (Beethoven) Dorothy Leonard (Mendelssohn) Scherzo (Mendelssohn) Elizabeth Harrington

The first period piano class gave a program Friday. The following numbers were played: Minuet in G (Beethoven) Evalina Danner Indian Love Song (Grunn) Elizabeth Haseman (Schumann) Soldier's March (Hamer) In Days of Old (Hamer) Vesta Ralph

A plan has been arranged in the Harmony class in Orange high school which gives the students of that class an incentive to work for.

Each of the members of the class have grades above 75 per cent for the week's work. Friday is devoted to playing music on the Victrola.

Last week everyone in the class had a grade above 80 per cent, thus earning the treat for Friday.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hampton was the scene of a gay party last evening. As it was a Halloween party, the color scheme was orange and black.

The house was decorated with cats, owls, witches and goblins. As the guests arrived they were met by three ghosts, who silently escorted them through dark passages, where they had several hair-raising experiences.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. Foster and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hampton and son, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hampton and two daughters, Della and Louisa.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Higgins and daughter, Leola, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maroney and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Valentine and daughter, Mrs. W. O. Higgins and daughter, Estelle, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Preck and daughter, and Mrs. Olive French and son and daughter, Tom and Bertha.

The guests came in costume and there was much merriment caused by their appearance. The evening was pleasantly spent with games and music.

NEWPORT CLUB SHELL COMPANY HAS $185,000 FIELD CAMP

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 5.—Following action taken at the bi-monthly meeting the women of the Shell club of this city went on record as being opposed to the use of rough, inelegant, uncouth and "back fence" words. They all took a pledge to use nicer language, speak every word clearly and distinctly and for a whole year do their best not to murder "the King's English."

The following is the pledge, originated by the school children of Detroit, which the Shell club members took:

I love the United States of America, I love my country's flag, I love my country's language. I promise:

1. That I will not dishonor my country's speech by leaving off the last syllables of words;
2. That I will say a good American 'yes' and 'no' instead of an Indian grunt 'um hum' and 'mup' or a foreign 'ya' and 'yeh' or a 'hope'.
3. That I will improve the American speech by enunciating distinctly and by speaking pleasantly and sincerely;
4. That I will try to make my country's language beautiful for the many people of foreign nations who come here to live;
5. That I will learn to articulate correctly one word a day for a year.

Select Pythians For Minstrel Show

TUSTIN, Nov. 5.—Andrew Cock, Dale Crawford, Donald Thompson, George Miller and H. H. "Bud" Hannaford are the five men selected from the Tustin Knights of Pythias lodge to take part in the minstrel show to be given at the high school auditorium Nov. 7.

Five different lodges are interested in the performances, Anaheim, Brea, Fullerton, Norwalk, and Tustin. Each will put the show on in their respective towns.

Rehearsals have been progressing rapidly and the first showing of the minstrel show will be made at Tustin November 7. The proceeds from the entertainment will go toward the Christmas fund of the lodge.

Five acts of high class vaudeville will also be included in the program and will be direct from Los Angeles theaters. It was stated by one of the members of the local lodge that efforts were being made to secure the famous six piece string orchestra of negroes from Los Angeles.

Turkish Girls Not Lacking In Beauty

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 5.—Turks, who for centuries insisted that the Moslem women wear heavy veils are agreeably surprised to find the distinct beauty which the majority possess. The new regime of Turkish rulers recently agreed to permit the women to discard their veils and dress as women of other European nations do.

Following as a natural consequence the women are making great use of facial preparations to increase the feminine attractiveness which has for so many years been hidden from view. One of these beauties, known as the "Rose of Stamboul" is Miss Gulide Hanum, said to be the reigning beauty of Constantinople.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Higgins and daughter, Leola, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maroney and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Valentine and daughter, Mrs. W. O. Higgins and daughter, Estelle, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Preck and daughter, and Mrs. Olive French and son and daughter, Tom and Bertha.

The guests came in costume and there was much merriment caused by their appearance. The evening was pleasantly spent with games and music.

YOUTH FACES JURY IN 50 CENT CASE

Whether the small sum of fifty cents would be enough to send Donald Cornellison, Pomona youth, to San Quentin if he was found guilty of having taken it, as alleged, in a hold-up of F. A. Henderson, Orange high school principal, was a question discussed by court-room "wisecracks" as young Cornellison went to trial today on a robbery charge before a jury in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court.

That the jury might be influenced against sending the youth to prison for such a small sum, even though he might be found guilty of the asserted hold-up, was an opinion expressed by some.

The prosecution, however, was expected to press vigorously for a conviction, having expressed the view that the intent was just as guilty as though a large sum had been taken from the hold-up victim. In that connection it was thought that an effort might be made to dwell lightly on the amount of money that was alleged to have "changed hands" on the night that Henderson claimed to have been held up in Orange.

Cornellison was defended today by Attorney Clyde Bishop, of Santa Ana. Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin appeared for the state.

PLAN FULL READING OF 'R. U. R.' DRAMA

Members of the recently-elected cast of "R. U. R." intellectual melodrama which the Santa Ana Community Players' association will present at the Temple theater here the nights of December 10 to 24, inclusive, will assemble at the Frances Willard junior high school on North Main street at 7:30 o'clock tonight, for a complete reading of the play, it was announced today.

Keen interest has been aroused in this play, which was first produced in this country about a year ago by The Theater Guild, in New York City, where it created a sensation. The Santa Ana production will, so far as is known, be the first on the Pacific coast.

The local division of the Red Cross was formed last week by Miss Alita Brownlee of San Francisco, one of the prominent Red Cross workers. Mrs. Lois C. Robb was appointed chairman of the local chapter with her. Mrs. Robb expects the work of the Huntington Beach post to be a great success.

Other Officers Named Mrs. Howard was named vice-president. Mrs. Howard is also vice-principal of the grammar school and is connected with the Camp Fire Girls of this city. J. A. Armistead, secretary of the chamber of commerce is secretary to the Red Cross here also. J. I. Hinkle, president of the First National Bank of this city, was appointed treasurer. Mr. Hinkle was formerly connected with the Red Cross during the war. He was a field marshal in active service. Money derived from the banquet served today in Obarr's hall will go toward the campaign expenses. The campaign is to be put on after Armistice Day and practically all of the Red Cross people will be at the money drive.

The aim of the drive is to get money enough to finance the local chapter and also some to use in the usual Red Cross work.

The proceeds of the drive are to be divided equally between the post and the regular Red Cross work.

Beach Cannon Is Fired Accidentally; Cannon Sufferer

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 5.—Mr. Cannon of this city went hunting. Whether he got any ducks or not is not known but he did shoot something. He reported to the emergency hospital with several of his fingers shot off, with the remark, "See what I did!"

Dr. R. E. Hawes took him to the Santa Ana community hospital where amputation of two joints of the index finger and part of the middle finger of the right hand was found necessary.

The accident occurred when the shot gun which Cannon was carrying fell and as he reached for it his fingers closed over the end of the barrel. The gun went off as it struck the ground, taking part of Cannon's fingers with it.

Beach Scoutmaster Enjoys His Labors With Husky Youths

C. E. MORRIS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 5.—C. E. Morris, local scoutmaster, and prominent in a great many social activities of the town, declares that the most enjoyment afforded him is by his troops of Boy Scouts, both junior and senior.

Mr. Morris came to Huntington Beach several years ago. He walked across the country to get here. His first work was to take up the Boy Scouts and try to make something of them. He succeeded.

"Huntington Beach offers a large field for work among the young people and there are not enough people here who realize it," said Mr. Morris in a recent interview.

Recently Mr. Morris formed a junior scout troop composed of about eighty young boys of grammar school age. Besides these he has his senior scouts and several other duties connected with the young peoples societies in the churches.

Steady growth in the town has been shown by the gas department records, is the claim of men of that department.

Records show that over eighty meters are about fifty-five are turned off. Much of the moving in Huntington Beach, it has been pointed out, is merely from one location in town to another.

"We have had about twenty-five meters gain every month," said William Wright, city clerk. Accounts of the turn-off of gas meters are not published in the paper and previous records of the meters installed may have been misleading, it has been pointed out.

Over three hundred new meters have been installed during the past several months, it was stated.

Those who have ordered the gas turned on during the week are as follows: I. B. Payne, 211 Twenty-second street; A. Bunch, 119 1/2 210 Sixth street; W. J. Servens, 408 Eighth street; J. L. Stanton, 410 Fifteenth street; C. T. Trammell, 102 Palm avenue; J. W. Biswell, 523 1/2 Seventh street.

WHERE AUTOMOBILES ABOUND

At this time of year when admirers of automobiles are passing expert judgment—and these days everybody is an expert on the looks of an automobile—on the merits of the new models of automobiles, the fact that the automobile plays a big part in the everyday life of Santa Ana is impressed upon us. True, the automobile is to be found in every corner of the globe, and it plays a part in the everyday life of civilized human beings everywhere. But, have you considered that your automobile probably means more to you than your eastern cousin's automobile means to him?

The resident of Orange county has the use of his automobile every day of the year. There is no snow to block the highways and no freezing and no blizzards that make you lock the machine in the garage and leave it there for days and weeks at a time. No better highways are to be found anywhere than are to be found in Southern California. So with weather and highways, the resident of Orange county has opportunity to get more pleasure and more use of his machine than would be possible were he and his machine registered and domiciled almost anywhere "back East".

In the preceding paragraph we have been pointing out what the automobile means to the resident of Orange county who has opportunity to ride forth upon the highways frequently. Consider, now, what the automobile and its slow brother, the truck, means to Santa Ana, or to any other community in Orange county, in a business way, aside from the question of transportation.

How many hundreds of residents of Santa Ana earn their livings by reason of the automobile? What a hole there would be in our array of business blocks if every garage and every business dealing in automobile supplies were wiped out!

We are all interested in automobiles. We are interested in the different makes, in the improvements, in the accessories, in the quality of oil and in the price of gasoline. And we welcome the new models.

The automobile is a remarkable piece of machinery and it grows more remarkable year by year.

WRITE YOUR Y. M. C. A. CHECK

Again, a call is issued to those who signed pledges to the Y. M. C. A. building fund. The call is for immediate payment on all pledges.

There are numerous pledges that are not paid up to date. The principal reason they have not been paid seems to be that the subscribers expect someone to come to their offices or homes after the money.

"Oh, I overlooked that," said one of the subscribers when the matter was called to his attention by a trustee of the fund.

"I received the notices, yes, but didn't sit down right then and write a check, and the matter slipped my mind."

However, the obligations of the Y. M. C. A., undertaken on the pledges of the subscribers, have not slipped a bit.

So, this appeal is addressed to every subscriber. If the writing of a check slipped his mind, this may serve as a reminder.

RECORDS FOR THE FUTURE

John P. Harrington, who some ten or twelve years ago was a teacher in the Santa Ana high school and who is now a scientist with the Smithsonian Institute, has dug up some skulls near Ventura. He believes that these skulls belonged to a people who lived in California long before the Indians.

Unfortunately there are no written records of the age and the people represented by the skulls. Could our civilization possibly pass into oblivion, and thousands of years hence evidences of our civilization unearthed, scientists likely would conclude that we left too many records instead of not enough.

The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace says a shelf 200 miles long would be required for all the books and documents needed to make the history of the World War complete. That alone gives us an idea of what our civilization has in the way of a great mass of material perpetuating the story of this age.

AHEAD OF THE TRAFFIC

The public in general pays little attention to the railroads until an acute condition arises to disturb routine proceedings. Progressive achievements in the way of efficient service are unobserved unless particularly brought to notice. The sixth annual progress report of the American Railway association points out one important achievement.

Anticipating this year the greatest traffic in history, the railroads last spring unanimously adopted a "constructive program" aimed at handling that traffic. They announce now that their program succeeded. The traffic hauled to date has been even heavier than anticipated. For sixteen weeks car loading exceeded 1,000,000 cars a week, yet taking the country over since June there has always been a surplus of cars in good condition available for more traffic. The peak week ended September 29. Its loadings reached 1,097,000 cars. On September 29, however, there was a gross surplus of about 41,000 cars.

Obviously there has been more efficient routing of cars, more prompt handling of loads and greater foresight in providing cars to meet the demand and preparing for emergency needs. These things have been done in spite of the fact that the total number of cars of revenue freight loaded in the thirty-nine weeks from January 1 through September 29 was ten per cent greater than for the same period in 1920, twenty-eight per cent greater than for 1921, and nineteen per cent greater than for that period last year.

The railroads deserve due credit for this phase of their public service.

STABLE STANDARD OF VALUE

Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale, the well known economist and monetary authority, is at it again, demanding a stable dollar.

"Talk about the mark and the ruble," he says,

"and we can appreciate the need of such a standard. But we are overlooking the fact that our dollar is less than two-thirds of what it was before the war. This depreciation plays havoc with our accounts; and the worst of it is that we seldom realize it until bankruptcy or some other calamity befalls us."

"We have definite, fixed standards of weight and measurement, but we lack what we need worst of all—a definite, unchanging, international standard of value."

Undoubtedly we do, as everyone who thinks seriously about the matter concludes, sooner or later. It is perhaps the biggest material need in the world today. It is needed more abroad than in America, because our money is more nearly stable. Yet the fluctuation in prices the last few years have shown vividly enough the need of a better system to keep business steady and to avoid robbing either creditors or debtors through a decrease or increase in the purchasing power of the dollar.

But what is Prof. Fisher going to do about it? It may not be beyond the power of the human intellect to solve this problem, but nobody has come forward yet with a solution that convinced any great number of people. So, for lack of a perfect standard, everybody sticks to the imperfect gold standard—or comes back to it after trying unsecured paper.

A Hero of the World Today

Sacramento Bee

Heroes are still living; the past cannot claim all the inspiration of sacrifice in behalf of others.

Take the case, for instance, of Dr. Frederick H. Baetjer of John Hopkins hospital, scientist with an international reputation for his investigation with the X-ray.

Twenty years ago, he suffered the loss of four fingers on his right hand as a result of a mysterious infection attributed to the rays. Later the sight of one eye was almost completely destroyed. Now he is in the hospital again facing the amputation of an arm.

The end is not difficult to foresee. One day life itself will be the penalty he will pay for his research, for his devotion to science, for his work in behalf of using the rays in the healing art. A martyr—yes. Not perhaps in the manner of those who were burned at the stake for their convictions, but none the less one who will pay the supreme price in behalf of humanity.

Such give the lie to the charge that fine and noble living is a lost art in the world today.

No Children Wanted

San Bernardino Sun

What sort of a town would San Bernardino be if it boasted no children? Foolish question, you say. Yes, and no. For a piece of property was last week offered for sale, and the worst of it is that it was advertised in the Sun, where the buyer was notified in advance that if he had "children, chickens or dogs," he would not be welcome. In a newspaper experience that stretches over quite some time, we must confess this particular instance is unique, not to say disagreeable and disquieting.

We have heard of heartless landlords and owners who, forgetting the fact that number children among the household blessings, but an advertisement with this specification published in the Sun last week is in an entirely new class.

"This is a dandy home in a fine location. This is a very exclusive locality and if you have children, chickens or dogs I cannot deliver this property. Priced at, etc., etc."

It was a correspondent who is evidently a reader of the classified columns who called the editor's attention to the advertisement, and she says:

"Since when and where is there such an exclusive residence district that they cannot deliver a home to you if you have children? The very idea of listing children with chickens and dogs! I hope all buyers of homes will let the party on — keep his property, as long as it is such an exclusive locality."

"One reads and knows there are many places one can't rent if you have children, but when it comes to buying one's own home—nuf said. Let every one get his gray matter working."

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

BY THE SWEAT OF YOUR BROW

I know that talk is a great deal about the necessity of having the waste matter from the intestine removed every day. Constipation is a deadly thing and I believe many of my readers have realized that for years.

But so many think that the only method of ridding the body of waste is by the intestine, that I must say once again that it is only one of the four methods Nature uses to keep your body, your blood, perfectly clean.

You remember the others, the perspiration from skin, urine from kidneys, and breath from the lungs. Now if you sit down all day what happens?

Well the skin doesn't get rid of all its share of the waste, the kidneys and lungs likewise do less than their share.

What happens?

Well, your poor old intestine has to take care of its own share and part of that of the skin, kidneys and lungs.

Does it do it?

Certainly not, because you have been sitting so much that your liver gets lazy and likewise the intestine. You do nothing to stimulate action on their part.

Thus all your processes for getting rid of waste get behind with their job, and you feel heavy and clogged.

Now what about it?

Well away back in the good book you read, "By the sweat of your brow you shall earn your bread." Do you see the idea?

The simple matter of creating a "sweat" will not only earn your bread for you, but will make your life worth the living.

You work or exercise that body of yours. Immediately you create heat in the body which burns up the waste products, and they are thrown out by the four methods spoken of above.

Four or five minutes real exercise twice a day is all that is necessary. Your skin perspires and throws off its share, the urine contains waste products within a few minutes after you exercise, and your breath throws them off during the exercise.

And your intestine?

Why the liver is squeezed, and the intestine massaged, and your intestines, large and small, are stimulated to increased action. Isn't it wonderful when you think about it, that if you simply obey the good book's injunction you are made free from the filth that come from retaining waste matters in the body?

So simple, and so effective.

America's Favorite Songs

What is America's favorite song?

It isn't "Yes, We Have No Bananas," despite the sweeping popularity of this mirth-provoking ditty. At a matter of fact, the vogue of the so-called "nut" song, although it may be tremendous for a while, is fleeting. Witness Albert Von Tilzer's "Oh by Jingo," "Jada" and others of the same type.

A song, to be a permanent favorite, say music directors and critics, must possess some peculiar merit. It may be the beauty or the sentiment of the poetry, such as in some of our patriotic hymns and songs of home. It may be the sheer beauty of the music itself, or it may be the adaptability of the song to impromptu "close harmony" singing. "Good-night, Ladies," a great favorite a generation ago and equally as popular today, is an example of the last type.

The establishing of America's favorite song is the task of the Committee on People's Songs, which made its first annual report through its chairman, Professor Peter W. Dykema of the University of Wisconsin, at the National Recreation Congress in Springfield, Ill., Oct. 11.

It was at last year's congress that the committee was formed, its purpose being to discover, inspire and foster worthy songs which reflect the life and ideals of the American people.

The committee has been endeavoring to search out through a widespread expression of public opinion the best existing songs suitable for community singing. It sent out a questionnaire to more than 50 active community song leaders throughout the country, asking them which they considered to be the best songs of American origin now being used in community singing.

The results of the questionnaire were tabulated and made public by the secretary, Kenneth S. Clark, at the music supervisors' national conference at Cleveland, O. The resultant list was voted upon in turn by the committee members, who added other songs of their own choosing. Through this process the committee's own approved list of songs was occupied.

Twenty songs were selected as the first group upon which attention will be focused for the coming year. Prof. Dykema, in his speech at Springfield, asked:

"How many of these songs can you sing with the text before you, and how many—a woefully small number, I fear—can you sing from memory?"

This is the list of 20 songs selected, tentatively at least, as America's best. Is your favorite in it? How many can you sing? "Old Folks at Home," "My Old Kentucky Home," "America," "Old Black Joe," "Dixie," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," "There's a Long, Long Trail," "America the Beautiful," "Star-Spangled Banner," "Home, Sweet Home," "Good-night, Ladies," "Juanita," "My Bonnie," "Mother Machree," "Till We Meet Again," "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean," "When Good Fellows Get Together," "Smiles," "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

The stories of some of these songs are to be printed in this column from day to day.

Worth While Verse

DEAD SELVES

Where do they go, all those dead lives of ours,
That not so long ago were each one's self?
Like outworn castoffs on oblivion's shelf;
They seem remote and dim as bygone shovels;
Nothing stands still—although the garden's flowers
Are quite as fair as they were yesterday,
O'er night a thousand petals fell away
And new ones bloomed to scent the paths and bowers.

If we could ever meet those selves long past
They'd loom as alien as folk scarcely known;
So far from their old viewpoint have we grown;
And yet one's present self is not one's last,
For we who think from now to alter not
A decade hence shall this self have forgot!

The Jew In History

From the Tulsa, Okla., World

Editor Tulsa World: Your editorial on "The Question Mark of History," written so ably and fairly, deserves commendation and should be "broadcasted."

Might I suggest that the Jew is the question mark (or rather, the exclamation point) of history not only from the point of view that his survival, in spite of all efforts to down him, has been called the greatest miracle; the Jew is the question mark of history also from a different standpoint.

The Jew has so many questions to ask of the world, questions that seem to remain unanswered. Some of the questions that the Jew asks, are the following:

Assuming that no group of human beings can be perfect, why are the Jewish people as such judged, not by the illustrious members, or by the majority of self-respecting, law-abiding, virtuous Jews, but by the extremely small number of worthless, un-Jewish Jews. Why is there a cryptic fear to deal with all Jews because it may happen, very rarely, that some individual who claims Jewish birth has made a dishonest deal?

Why is the Jew, if he mingles in Jewish society, considered clanish, and if he tries to mingle in non-Jewish circles he is too frequently barred, or, if admitted, is in too many instances, considered an intruder or a persona non grata? Why do the churches that should teach love (even for the enemy) persist in spreading hate, indirectly and perhaps unwillingly, by indoctrinating its adherents from early childhood onward with the historically false teaching, that it was the Jews (and not the Romans) who crucified the Founder of Christianity?

Why do not the textbooks of American history mention that together with Columbus there were Marco (a Jewish surgeon), Bernal (a Jewish physician), the Jew, Rodrigo de Triana who caught the first glimpse of the new land and Louis de Torres, the first white man (a Jew) to tread the soil of San Salvador? Scientific investigations are now being made to prove the hypothesis that Columbus was a Jew, or of Jewish parentage.

Why do not the school textbooks mention Hyman Solomon, who gave up his entire fortune for American independence; Emanuel Mordecai Noah, who served as an officer on Washington's staff; Benjamin Levy, Benjamin Jacobs, Samuel Lyon, all of whom made vast contributions to the cause that would guarantee to all not only liberty, but fraternity and equality as well?

Will the future historians include in their textbooks the story of the lost battalion in the Argonne forest battle, of whom the most were Jews of the very much misunderstood, misjudged east-side of New York, and of whom the greatest hero was Krotoschinsky, a New York Jewish barber?

Why should there be heard such an expression as: "You are a white Jew," implying that nearly all other Jews are not "white"?

Why should the world always regard the Jew as a parasite, in spite of the service he renders humanity? Are there some rich Jews? Then they have not obtained their wealth by any worse means than have the non-Jewish plutocrats. And, by the way, it is of interest to know that poverty does not spare the Jew, although we hear the expression, "As rich as a Jew," and even the richest Jews in America are paupers in comparison with the richest non-Jews. There are very few Jewish millionaires who really own as much as William Rockefeller intended spending for a mausoleum.

Do not the Jews maintain in the larger cities non-sectarian hospitals?

Has not Jacob H. Schiff, a Jew, donated a half million dollars to Harvard college, which would, like Russia, under the czar's regime, limit the number of Jewish students?

If the Jew seeks education he is charged with "filling the colleges, capturing the coveted honors," and the cry of old Pharaoh is raised, "Lest he increase." If he should decide not to seek education, he would be rebuked for his ignorance.

Is the Jew radical, then he is persecuted by the conservatives. Is he conservative, then the radicals make life miserable for him (witness the sad plight of the Jews in Soviet Russia, who are regarded as "bourgeois" by the soviet leaders, among whom are a few self-confessed renegade Jews.)

Whatever the Jew does, he cannot satisfy the world. What shall he do? Shall he lay down and die? But this the Jew cannot do. If he cannot be put to death, he surely cannot take his own life, he has too strong a will to live. Speaking of Israel the Psalmist says: "I will not die—yea I will live and relate the works of the eternal."

The Jewish people feel that they, as Jews, and only when true to the Jewish heritage, can "be a blessing" to humanity. They have hopes in the American spirit of fair play and square deal which will eventually spread over the earth. When the earth shall be filled with the true spirit of American idealism, then the Jew will be given justice.

Have we not all one father? Hath not one God created us? Then why shall we deal treacherously every man against his brother? (Malachi 2).

Respectfully yours,
(RABBI) M. TELLER.

JOHNNIE of the CIRCUS and his CUFFY BEAR ~ By ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

"I was a lion tamer," said Mrs. Puffer.

MRS. PUFFER'S BIG IDEA
Before the meal was over, Mrs. Puffer the Bearded Lady recovered her spirits. She quite forgot her husband's name and gave Mr. Black the Lion Tamer for his blunder in mistaking her for a gentleman—a gentleman who had seemed to make sport of her by this horrible idea.

"I shall never step my foot in his mousetrap. Before she had finished her soup Mrs. Puffer was doing nine-tenths of the talking at her table. By the time the waiter removed her soup-plate, Mrs. Puffer said to Mr. Black, "Do you know, you make me think of Mr. P." That was the husband, ally spoke of her husband.

The Lion Tamer choked. He tried not to appear displeased. However, he could not conceive the Bearded Lady's husband as an attractive man.

"It's the way you have of squinting up your eyes," Mrs. Puffer explained. "Does your back ever trouble you? Mr. P. back bothers him a great deal."

The Lion Tamer replied gruffly that his back was all right, and he expected it always would be so long as he was careful not to turn it toward the lions.

Johnnie Green, who was watching and listening intently, snickered so loudly at Mr. Black's answer that his Uncle Jim, sitting beside him, had to nudge him.

"So you're a Lion Tamer!" cried Mrs. Puffer with a shudder. "That's a dangerous business. I'm glad I don't have to earn my living that way."

"It'd be dangerous for you, ma'am, with your whiskers," said the Lion Tamer, as he stepped carefully upon the foot of Mr. Guffey the Giant, who sat next to him. "If a lion got a hold of your whiskers, you'd never untangle him."

Mrs. Puffer was plainly disturbed by this horrible idea. "I shall never step my foot in his mousetrap," she declared. "But if I did I know what I'd do. I've often planned what I'd do if I was a Lion Tamer."

"What's that?" asked Mr. Black. "I'd knit mittens and muzzles for the lion," said Mrs. Puffer firmly. "Now, did you ever think of that?"

"I never did," said Mr. Black. And he took a swallow of coffee which must have been very hot, for he held his napkin to his face.

"I'd knit mittens and muzzles for the lion," said Mrs. Puffer firmly. "Now, did you ever think of that?"
